28 Killed In Worst Vehicle Accident In State History

35 Braceros Hurt As Bus, Train Collide Near Salinas

SALINAS (AP) — A speeding freight train shattered a makeshift bus jammed with Mexican field workers yesterday, killing 28 and injuring 35 in the worst vehicle accident in California history.

At least six of the injured were reported in critical condition today. The 28th victim died hours after the crash at Monterey County Hospital.

The coroner's office said eight victims had been identified tentatively, but declined to release the names.

"Everything is so mixed up that we might give the name of a man who is still alive," a spokesman said.

Bodies were strewn for half a mile along both sides of the track after the crash at a farm road crossing near the town of Chualar eight miles south of Salinas.

"Bodies just flew all over the place," said Tony Vasquez, 29. He was working in a nearby lettuce field and saw the converted truck ripped into pieces.

Vasquez called the California Highway Patrol and then went back to do what he could.

"Two of those men died in my arms," he said.

"One body was hooked under the engine," said Coroner Christopher Hill Jr. after visiting the scene.

"Shoes, hats, and cutting knives were all around.

"Everywhere you could hear the injured moaning."

Twenty-two died by the tracks. Others died as 15 ambulances rushed them to three Salinas hospitals.

The workers at 4:30 p.m. were returning from a celery field to the Earl Meyers Co. labor camp near Salinas.

They sat on four board benches running lengthwise on the flatbed truck.

Francisco Gonzales Espinosa, 34, of Salinas, the driver, said he stopped at the crossing and looked to his right. Highway Patrol Capt. Francis Simmons said Espinosa declared he did not hear or see the train until the front wheels were on the track.

A highway patrol spokesman said Espinosa was held on an open charge of felony manslaughter, and probably would be arraigned today.

Engineer Robert E. Cripe of San Luis Obispo said he blasted his Southern Pacific locomotive's whistle when he saw the bus stopped at the crossing.

Astonished and shocked, Cripe saw the bus move onto the tracks. Before he could slow his train of 70 sugar beet gondola cars, rolling at 50 miles an hour, the engine hurtled into the midst of the jammed workers.

It took Cripe half a mile to bring his train to a stop.

"The entire front of the northbound locomotive was covered with sheet metal. The metal formerly was the side of the bus," related Bob McVay, Salinas and King City radio station owner. He reached the scene just as the first ambulance arrived.

JFK Rules Out Anti-Recession Pump Priming

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President John F. Kennedy, making an all-out bid for support of his tax cut, promised today to forego any further anti-recession pump priming spending.

He made the pledge in advance of his nationwide radio-television speech (7 p.m. EDT) on behalf of the 11-million-dollar tax reduction bill which comes up for House debate next week.

The president's speech and his assurance that he would not seek further anti-recession programs were aimed at countering Republican demands that any tax bill must be accompanied by a cut in government spending.

Kennedy made his pledge to forego any more anti-recession spending in an unsolicited letter to Chairman Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.), of the House Ways and Means Committee which wrote the tax bill.

The president noted that Mills had issued a weekend statement that the tax cut would spur the economy better than more federal spending. Mills said then: "We do not intend to go along both roads at the same time."

In his brief letter, the president wrote: "I thought your

Marin Ranch Planned For Development

The 513-acre Richardson Ranch in North Marin has been purchased by a Burlingame firm which will begin this winter to transform it into a marina-type residential development.

The land, about a mile west of Black Point and bisected by Highway 37, has been purchased by brothers Alfred and Leonard Moskovitz, who own Burlingame Investment Co.

The purchase from Mrs. Mary Richardson of Sacramento was completed last week for just under one million dollars. The land was sold for this relatively low price because of tax considerations by Mrs.

Rites Held For Bomb Victims; Kennedy, Negroes To Meet

COMBINED AP & UPI

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—President John F. Kennedy today arranged a meeting in Washington tomorrow with seven Negro leaders to discuss the tense racial situation in Birmingham following the bombing of a church which killed four girls.

The White House announced that the conference, requested by Negro leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, would be held at 5 p.m. EDT.

Hundreds of saddened Negroes gathered this afternoon for the funeral of three of the girls. King was the main speaker.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. of the Advancement of Colored People, was among the Negro leaders planning to attend the mass funeral.

Wilkins told a news conference at National Airport near Washington prior to departing for Birmingham that Kennedy should cut off "every nickel" of federal funds sent to Alabama.

Wilkins said as a first step the president should close Maxwell Air Force Base at Montgomery, Ala.

Hoffa Hopes GOP Chooses Rockefeller

NEW YORK (AP) — James Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, has come out for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the Republican presidential nomination, CBS News reported today in a filmed interview from Chicago.

After saying he couldn't support President John F. Kennedy for re-election or Sen. Barry Goldwater as a Republican candidate, Hoffa was asked by CBS newsman Stanley Levey which Republican he will support.

Hoffa replied:

"I would hope—I don't know whether Rockefeller would appreciate my hope or not—I would hope that he would be a candidate because I believe that he is a seasoned individual—watching what he has done in New York and in recognition of passing the necessary laws and getting ahead in the retraining program, in actual operation, rather than talk."

Airliner Overshoots

AMSTERDAM (AP) — A Pan American World Airways DC-8 jetliner overshot the runway when landing at Schiphol Airport today. It ploughed an 880-foot furrow across the grass but airport officials reported that none of the crew or 20 passengers was hurt.

CASTO'S NOT FIDEL CASTRO, SEE? OH, SI!

MIAMI (UPI) — Harry E. Casto, has run into a snag in his campaign for the Hialeah City Council.

Several of his supporters complained today that Go With Casto bumper strips have been torn from their cars and they have been threatened by angry Cuban exiles who failed to notice there is no "R" in Casto.

Casto said he has been trying to explain that he has no connection with the Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

"I hold up the sign and spell out C-A-S-T-O, no "R"," he said. "Then I point at myself and smile, 'me,' I say 'no beard.'"

"Finally they get it and smile back and say, 'si.'"

Marinwood Approves Pool Bonds

By an easy margin of 757 to 272, voters in the Marinwood Community Services District yesterday approved a $100,000 bond issue to finance an Olympic-size swimming pool at the Marinwood Community Center.

The district board will discuss the election at its regular meeting tomorrow, but no action of hiring an architect or sale of the bonds can be taken until after official canvass of the vote at a special meeting Monday, according to secretary-manager Genevieve Bolding.

The project calls for a pool with diving area, showers, dressing room, wading area for small children, a 10,000-square foot deck, a windbreak, and landscaping of the site at Miller Creek and Lucas Valley roads.

The measure needed a two-thirds vote for approval.

According to County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, the new bonds will cost the average Marinwood homeowner between $5.50 and $6.50 during the first year.

Two previous attempts to pass a bond issue for the swimming pool fell short of the necessary two-thirds approval in 1961 and 1962.

No Civil Service Law In Sausalito

But City Didn't Know It

By ELLEN BRY

City councilmen of Sausalito last night introduced a civil service ordinance—the same ordinance under which city employees, including Police Chief Howard W. Goerndt, have believed themselves working for eight years.

Goerndt, who has been fired by City Mgr. Charles A. Brown, and some 35 other city employees have been following the rules of the civil service ordinance which covers hiring and firing procedures, tenure, disciplining procedures, and sets up a board of review before which employees can appeal city actions. The board has heard such appeals.

NO REVIEW BOARD

Last night the council appointed Paul D. Stanley of 11 Crescentia Lane to fill a vacancy on the five-member board of review.

But there is no board of review and no civil service ordinances, Brown told councilmen after they made the appointment.

He said that in 1955 the council enacted an ordinance setting up a civil service system for the city — but that the ordinance was never published, as required by law.

A search of the back issues of the weekly Marin News (then Sausalito News), in which the city usually publishes legal notices, shows no publication.

MIGHT BE OTHERS

(Unofficially city officials say they believe other ordinances also may have missed publication in an effort by one official to "save the city some money.")

Councilmen were assured that the ordinance setting up a city manager system was in force, including the provision that the manager can hire and fire.

The lack of a board of review to hear appeals apparently would make Goerndt's firing final, councilmen noted.

GOERNDT HEARING

"But I am anxious that the board of review hear chief Goerndt," said Mayor Paul Micou. "We've always thought we had a civil service ordinance and I don't want to take advantage . . . "

City councilmen agreed and promptly introduced emergency civil service ordinance with all the provisions of the previous one. The ordinance is expected to be passed on second reading at the council meeting next week and would immediately go into effect — with the understanding that it would be published.

An emergency ordinance can be passed in one session; that is, the council could have passed the ordinance last night, City Atty. Leland H. Jordan explained later. But Jordan had recommended that the council

There was no objection from any member of the committee as it approved the South Viet Nam issue.

ANSWERS TAX CHARGE

Just Who Was That Author In Court?

Actor-author Sterling Hayden of Belvedere strode into Marin Municipal Court this morning, almost incognito behind a heavy beard and deep tan, to answer old tax charges on his former boat, the Wanderer.

Deputy County Counsel Richard Godino and boat appraiser Thomas Brown contend Hayden owes $721.60 in 1959 taxes on the $35,000 schooner, which he has since sold.

But Hayden and his lawyer, Norman Leonard of San Francisco, told Judge Joseph G. Wilson that 1959 was the year Hayden sailed to Tahiti.

It was the "Romance of the San Francisco Bay Area" that lured him to Marin, Hayden admitted, but it wasn't until September of 1959, after his Tahiti trip, that he decided to live in this area. Therefore, he's perfectly willing to pay taxes from 1960-61, Hayden declared.

The beard? "I've been hiding behind it for a year, and it's been a pleasure to be anonymous," smiled Hayden.

He is now working on a novel, title of which "I do not care to divulge at this time." His first book, "Wanderer," will be published in a few weeks.

Judge Wilson took the tax case under submission, asking both sides to file written briefs, within the next 20 days.

$175,000 Fairfax School Bonds Going To Voters Again

The Fairfax school district will attempt for the second time next Jan. 14 to gain voter approval of a $175,000 bond issue for school enlargement.

If approved, the action would not have a direct affect on raising the tax rate, Supt. Homer Sisk said. Bond costs and redemption would be covered by rises in assessed valuation, he said.

Trustees of the school district last night set the Jan. 14 date for resubmission of the bond proposal, rejected by voters last June.

The district has recently experienced a rise from what had been a steady two per cent growth in enrollment, Sisk said. This year, 960 students are attending classes in three schools, the highest total yet. Kindergarten classes are filled to the 35-student limit and there are two children on a waiting list to enter, Sisk reported.

If approved the bonds would be used with $145,000 in bonds from a 1956 approval, making the district eligible for a state loan which voters authorized six years ago.

Total cost of the work contemplated would be $590,935. It would include purchase of a 17-acre site for a future school. At Central School, three lots would be added to the school grounds and a kindergarten room and three primary classrooms built. At Deer Park School, three classrooms would be built.

Quint Family Might Get Break On Tax

Won't Have To Pay On Gifts; Babies Fine

COMBINED UPI & AP

WASHINGTON — The birth of the Fischer quintuplets is playing a pleasant melody on the heart strings of the nation. And far be it from federal tax agents to sound a sour note.

Like most other Americans, Internal Revenue Service officials are sitting back, enjoying the romance and drama of the blessed occasion.

There is no indication that IRS agents—as some fear—are rubbing their hands hungrily and eyeing the estimated $70,000 in gifts said to be pouring in.

STRICT RULES

The IRS has strict rules against discussing an individual taxpayer's situation. Past experience and the law suggests, however, that these points may be pertinent in the Fischer case.

Fischer, a $76-a-week shipping clerk, will not have to pay income tax on the thousands of dollars in gifts he has received.

When a person receives a gift—even in cash—it does not increase his taxable income under the law.

But it has to be a gift. Prizes won in a TV quiz contest, for instance, are not considered gifts and are taxable as income.

TAX DEDUCTIONS

Sen. George S. McGovern (D-S. D.) has introduced legislation which could stimulate even more well wishers to shower down with gifts for the Fischer household. It would allow donors to claim a tax deduction of up to $3,000 for gifts to families who have quintuplets, and would exempt them from estate taxes if they bequeath money or property to such families.

At Aberdeen, S. D. Mrs. Fischer, red-haired mother of quintuplets, looked forward today of returning home from the hospital as her tiny infants steadily gained in strength.

The four girls and a boy, born two months prematurely last Saturday, were at last report continuing active and healthy with the outlook good that all five would survive. The infants were expected to remain in the hospital for at least two months.

MAY BE WEIGHED

Dr. James Berbos, the family physician who delivered the quints, said he might weigh them today.

Mrs. Fischer had been kept in seclusion by her doctor and attorneys to recover.

Nervous and speaking barely above a whisper, Mrs. Fischer said at a news conference last night she was concerned about her other five children at home—also four girls and a boy—as she was about her famous new brood.

"It's like a dream," she said when asked how she felt about becoming world famous overnight. "But I am very happy."

Nikita Again Hits Farmers For Failures

MOSCOW (AP) — Angry over another poor harvest, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has berated farmers for inefficency and assailed bureaucrats for exporting fertilizer when it is needed for Soviet fields.

"We export mineral fertilizers because our economists haven't learned yet to calculate realistically what this costs," he told a farm meeting in Volgograd — formerly Stalingrad.

"If they calculated, then they would see that it would be better to put a ton of these fertilizers in the earth. It would be more economical to export the grain received than mineral fertilizers. And only after we have fully satisfied our domestic needs for mineral fertilizers can we then export them."

Khrushchev spoke Monday, the day Canada signed a 500-million-dollar deal to sell 218 million bushels of wheat to the Soviet Union. The Soviet press and radio have not told the Russian people about the wheat deal, made necessary by the failures of Soviet agriculture.

Fertilizer always has been short because much of the Soviet economy is devoted to heavy industry. But in his speech, published yesterday in the Soviet press, Khrushchev said farmers often neglected to use the fertilizer they have.

Khrushchev said fields in Yugoslavia, where he recently visited, produce higher grain yields than Soviet fields because of the use of fertilizer.

Khrushchev clearly was in a sour mood when he addressed the farmers. When one asked for additional irrigation pipes, he snapped: "I didn't come to you from the supply section. Pipe is not the question we ought to be occupying ourselves with now."

Jakarta Rioters Burn British Embassy

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian demonstrators protesting creation of anti-Communist Malaysia looted and set fire to the British Embassy and attacked homes of embassy personnel today. The three-story embassy was left a burned out shell.

Indonesian troops were reported moving tonight to quell the rioting, the most savage in a three-day outburst of mob violence directed against the new federation, created Monday with Britain's backing from four former British colonies.

U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones said he received official word that the Jakarta garrison had been instructed by the government to take over responsibility for quelling the outbreak. Jones said he had heard that the troops were ordered to points throughout the city.

The British flag was ripped from its staff, torn and burned.

Flames broke out of a third floor balcony window in the modern, three-story chancery building and spread throughout the top floor before they subsided.

Rioters from a mob estimated at 10,000 methodically began sacking the building, tossing out papers and furniture.

Five cars were set afire—three inside the embassy compound and two outside—and the odor of burning rubber filled the air.

In London, Foreign Secretary Lord Home summoned Indonesian Ambassador Burhanudin Mopamad Diah and demanded that the Indonesian government immediately stop "such uncivilized behavior."

In Kuala Lumpur, capital of Malaysia, the government announced it was putting the country in "a state of preparedness" because of hostility from Indonesia and the Philippines.

Whites Put Negroes In White School

PALO ALTO (AP) — The families of two Stanford University professors and a research chemist have taken four Negro children into their homes so the youths may attend school in the all-white community of Portola Valley near here.

Friends of one of the educators, Dr. Carl Djerassi, say he has received insulting phone calls since starting the project. All the families involved decline to discuss their effort for fear it might damage their chances of success.

WHERE THEY LIVE

Two of the children are living with Emile Despres, an economics professor at Stanford, and his family. Another lives with Djerassi, a chemistry professor at the Palo Alto campus, and the other with the Robert Gates family. Gates is a research chemist at the Stanford Research Institute.

Portola Valley is an upper-middle class district in the foothills west of the Stanford Campus. Three of the children are from the predominantly Negro district of Ravenswood in East Palo Alto. The fourth is from San Francisco's East Bay.

'PROGRAM WORKS'

Dr. Djerassi originated the idea at a public forum last July. He suggested the step to break the isolation between the races, and give Negro students a chance to attend schools in the district.

Mrs. Gates commented, however, that the program has worked beautifully so far. She said her family's goal is "to help the children to learn to live together." The Gates have six children of their own.

The mother of one of the Negro students said she was not distressed that her child was one of only four Negro children in the entire school district.

She said she expected criticism from members of her own race for allowing the child to live in a white home.

Smith Resigns From Hub City School Board

Philip C. Smith resigned from the San Anselmo School District board last night effective Monday because he is moving to San Rafael.

Smith was appointed to the board Nov. 7, 1960, and elected to a four-year term in April, 1961.

Supt. Stephen Parodi said that anyone interested in filling Smith's unexpired term, which ends June 30, 1965, should write to the district office. Applications will be accepted until an adjourned meeting of the school board Oct. 1, when the names of candidates will be made public, he said.

The board hopes to fill the vacancy at its Oct. 22 meeting, Parodi said. The regularly scheduled meeting of Oct. 15 has been switched to the 22nd when the board will canvass the results of its three-part bond, apportionment and tax increase election, to be held Oct. 15.

A citizens committee is going to mail a pamphlet on the election to 5,000 homes, Parodi said.

Residents will vote on a $700,000 bond issue, a $500,000 state loan and a 45-cent boost in the operating tax rate from $1.80 to $2.25.

The San Anselmo School District board also:

1. Heard a report from Parodi that enrollment reached 2,037 last Friday, about 65 higher than at the same time last year, and that from 40 to 50 more pupils are expected to enroll in the next two weeks.
2. Granted approval for a study on the possible use of a second bus to pick up pupils in the morning.
3. Denied a claim for $25,000 filed against the school district by Mr. and Mrs. John B. Channell of 12 Redwood Road for mouth injuries suffered by their daughter, Jeanne, last spring when she fell against a steel post at Yolansdale School.
4. Confirmed appointment of Geraldine McNamara to teach fifth grade at Isabel Cook School. Miss McNamara formerly taught at the Elmdale School in Milwaukee.
5. Declared that a chicken house, hay barn and old house at the Sunny Hills school site at the base of Redhill Road are of "no value" and should be cleared from the site.
6. Received a report from Parodi that additions to the Wade Thomas School should be completed by the end of February.

'Faithful' Poodles In Slaying Buried

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Four poodles were buried yesterday at Colma pet cemetery near a 2,200-pound red granite tombstone.

On the tombstone were these words:

"To my poodles. They were loving, faithful and beautiful. The best friends a woman can have.

"Georgia R. White."

She had killed the poodles by suffocation with plastic bags. She did it, police said, to cover up a planned double-slaying at her Vacaville home.

After a quarrel over the dogs with her second husband, Air Force Sgt. Pedro Montana, she shot him to death as he slept.

Then, police determined, her former husband, Henry H. White, who wed her in her native Belgium as a war bride, chanced over. She shot him, spread a volatile fluid over the home—there was an explosion and she was killed.

The four newly interred poodles are buried beside four others the woman first had buried in her yard, then transferred to the pet cemetery.

"She came to the cemetery a year and a half ago to bury them," said Mrs. Edward Taylor, wife of the owner of Pet's Rest Cemetery.

"She made arrangements then for all her dogs and paid for flowers and shrubs to be put on the grave for 10 years."

The arrangement costs? Well over $1,000.

ertson, 14, was held yesterday with hundreds of persons, some white, paying silent tribute before she was buried in the red clay beneath cedar trees.

Today rites were held for Denise McNair, 11, and Addie Mae Collins and Cynthia Wesley, both 14.

In Congress, a resolution asked Kennedy to set aside next Sunday—the 101st anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation announcement—as a day of mourning for the four girls.

The Congress of Racial Equality in New York asked 100 of its chapters to observe mourning Sunday, and the 10 chairmen of last month's march on Washington asked all Americans to do the same.

Senate majority leader Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) and other senators asked the president to proclaim Sunday "a day of national observance in memory of these children and a day of rededication in this nation to the principles of law, equality and tolerance."

Two 16-year-old white boys charged with murder in the shooting of a Negro youth following Sunday's church bombing were held without bond today at Birmingham.

Jefferson County authorities set a preliminary hearing Friday for Michael Lee Farley and Larry Joe Sims, who were arrested Monday in the death of Virgil Ware, 13.

Ware was riding on the handlebars of a bicycle with his brother when he was shot down in a suburban area about 15 miles from the scene of the church bombing.

Sheriff Melvin Bailey said the two white youths, students at Phillips High School, had been to a rally called to protest Birmingham school desegregation prior to the shooting.

They signed statements admitting they killed Ware.

RICHARD PANCOST
New Sunny Hills chief

Sunny Hills Loses Exec, Gets New One

The resignation of Sunny Hill's executive director Perry B. Hall and appointment of a new director, Richard Pancost, was announced today by Mrs. Robert Kettenbach, president of the board of directors.

Hall, 51, has held the post since September, 1960. He said today that he told directors last May he did not choose to remain through the proposed development of new facilities for Sunny Hills. He explained the program could take several years and he thought it would be best to have a man who intended to see the work to conclusion.

Hall has not yet found a new position, but said he is working on several leads. He came to Sunny Hills from Pittsburgh, Pa., where he had served 11 years as executive director of the Family and Children's Service.

Pancost, 38, a native of Michigan, is to take over Oct. 15. He is a graduate of University of Oregon where he majored in psychology. He received a master's degree from Columbia University.

He worked with public and private agencies in Oregon and Michigan from 1948 to 1956 and was executive director of Parry Center, Portland, Ore. from 1956 to 1960. He comes from the post of executive assistant at the Children's Village, Dobbs Ferry, N.Y., a residential center for 300 boys.

Sunny Hills, established as an orphanage, was converted to a treatment center for emotionally disturbed children in 1955.

Mrs. Kettenbach said Pancost was selected over 14 other applicants.

Study has already been started by a seven-member development committee on the new Sunny Hills facilities, Mrs. Kettenbach said. It has not yet been decided whether the home will be moved to a new site or expanded at its present San Anselmo location.

Pancost and his wife have a son, 15, and a daughter, 9. The family will live in San Anselmo.

House In Sausalito Burglarized

Three Sausalito women returned yesterday from a vacation in Hawaii to find their home at 23 Atwood Avenue had been entered and a radio and more than $100 worth of clothing, linens, and towels stolen.

Acting Police Chief David Cooper said the burglary apparently occurred at the same time the home of Marvin S. Cowen, a neighbor, was entered on Sept. 10 or 11. At that time $15,000 in furs and jewels was stolen from the Cowen home at 21 Atwood, believed carried away in nine suitcases.

Denise O'Day, Margaret Fairbanks and Carol Joan Hall, all of whom work in San Francisco, discovered the burglary on their arrival home.

Police said that on Sept. 11 Officer Harvey Zion investigated the women's home and found the front door ajar and the back door with a pry mark on it. He entered but could not determine whether anything was missing.

Hospitalized For 'Pill Overdose'

Robert Furste, 39, salesman living at 910 Calle Paseo, Loma Verde, was hospitalized yesterday after taking an overdose of sedatives.

After treatment at Novato Hospital, he was transferred to Napa State Hospital for observation.

Deputy Sheriff Theodore V. Hughes notified Furste's wife Thelma, who is in Des Moines. The officer said Furste was apparently despondent over bills.

Boy, 18 Months, Drops 2 Stories, Breaks Leg

When 18-month-old John Camp dropped his bottle out the window at 247 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, yesterday morning, he decided to go after it.

His mother, Mrs. Hamilton Camp, said the child was due home from Marin General Hospital today. He suffered a broken left leg in the two-story fall.

Officer Injured

John Higgins, Sausalito police officer, injured both legs in an automobile accident last night in Yakima, Wash., where he is on vacation, visiting his parents. Higgins telephoned the Sausalito Police Department that he is not hospitalized.

STATE OBJECTS TO DREDGING PLANS

Supervisors Just Learn Of County Proposal For Richardson Bay Project

The State of California has objected to Marin County plans for Richardson Bay dredging that the board of supervisors didn't know the county had.

Existence of the plans came to light in a roundabout way yesterday.

The county board of supervisors received from the Army Engineers a copy of a letter from the State Department of Fish and Game. It objected to proposed locations for dumping mud dredged from the Saucelito Canal channel.

"The disposal sites were furnished this office by the Marin County Planning Commission," explained an accompanying letter from G. P. Reilly, acting district engineer for the Army.

None of the supervisors was aware that any plan had been prepared for the Richardson Bay dredging or mud disposal. The project has been under discussion since 1959. A public hearing on its flood control aspects was held by the Army Engineers at the Civic Center last May 22, with the Army to prepare plans under a federal appropriation.

Equally in the dark as to what was going on was Public Works Director Donald R. Frost. "The first I knew about the uproar was this letter," he told the supervisors. "I wasn't aware the planning commission had provided any sites."

The board, on motion of Supervisor Peter Behr, referred the matter to Frost and Planning Director B. D. Dobbs, asking a report and recommendation in two weeks.

Inquiry at the county planning department today disclosed, however, that the matter is no mystery there.

Senior Planner Sidney Shaw said Army Engineers' plans call for dredging 950,000 cubic yards from the channel to connect Richardson Bay with the Mill Valley Small Craft Harbor —the latter a state-approved project, completion of which hinges on the channel enlargement.

The Corps of Engineers, said Shaw, asked the county planning department to designate areas for "spoils disposals" (dumping the dredged-out mud). Shaw said he polled property owners to find out who wanted the mud, then drew up a map and sent it off. It showed 45.9 acres of fill in Richardson Bay and another 18 acres in Mill Valley—the latter being the city's Project 17 recreation area.

Shaw said he "knew the locations would not be acceptable, but there would be time to change things later." He said he "just sent the map off so that the corps could start work studying the project."

The map never went before the county planning commission. But it was included by the Army Engineers in a report on the proposed project which was sent to the State Department of Fish and Game for review.

The state's letter to the engineers said "the project itself appears excellent," but "some of the spoil disposal sites may have been hastily conceived and do not represent the best long-range solution in the public interest."

Richardson, Alfred Moskovitz reported.

The Moskovitz brothers plan a "moderately priced" marina development for the land south of the highway, with a still-undetermined number of homes to sell for about $20,000 and up, Alfred Moskovitz said. Water outlet will be on Novato Creek, where the creek already has been dredged in some areas for the Bel Marin Keys development, and on the Petaluma River and San Pablo Bay.

The south part of the parcel, about 250 acres, will be developed first, with construction planned to begin before the year's end. Moskovitz said more planning details and the number of homes to be put on the land will depend on engineers' conferences with the Marin County Planning Department.

Less emphasis on water access will be placed on development of the land to the north of the highway. Work there will not begin until after the south portion has been started, Moskovitz said.

'Bad Boy' Fate In Jury's Hands

The fate of San Quentin "bad boy" Robert Gene Glover, 32, was in the hands of a jury of eight women and four men this afternoon.

Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court instructed the jurors this morning and sent them out to deliberate at 11 a.m.

Glover, a Kern County robber, could get the death penalty if convicted of felony assault by a life termer. He is accused of stabbing another inmate with a sharpened brass rod on Feb. 5.

Sausalito Chamber Director Resigns

Edwin S. Long, a director of the Sausalito Chamber of Commerce for 16 years, resigned yesterday at the regular board meeting but said he will continue to serve as treasurer.

The board, according to Victor E. Hecht, executive secretary, elected Long a life honorary member in view of his long service. No replacement was named.

go through the normal double reading in two meetings in case of protest.

Councilmen read into the record two letters praising Goerndt. Alfred E. Harlem, 125 Prospect Avenue, Sausalito, wrote he had always received "prompt, courteous and efficient service" from the chief. John R. Kiker, Novato protested Goerndt's firing, saying Goerndt was on the USS Pennsylvania on Dec. 7, 1941 "to make possible these democratic processes we now indulge in."

Kiker's request to speak before the council was turned down by Mayor Micou.

Goerndt was not at the meeting.

"The place for any discussion is before the board of reviews," the mayor said.

Monday release in support of the tax bill was excellent. It should be convincing to members of Congress. And I subscribe to it."

Mills read the letter to the House Rules Committee which must clear the tax bill to the floor and asked: "What further assurances do we need?"

Republicans however still were dissatisfied and went ahead with plans to try to attach a broad anti-spending amendment to the tax measure.

Chief Of Harbors Tells Marin Wake Up To Possibilities

Says There Are More Boat Watchers Than Boaters Here

By HARRY CRAFT

"Some of you are in the position of not seeing the forest for the trees," Lachland M. Richards, chief of the state Division of Small Craft Harbors, told a Marin audience yesterday.

Richards might have rephrased his statement and said that residents of Marin County are not able to see its harbor development possibilities for the water.

Speaking to almost 100 persons attending a Marin Visitors Bureau luncheon at Dominic's Restaurant in San Rafael, which included members of the recently formed boats and harbor committee, Marin County supervisors and civic leaders, he declared there are more boat watchers than boaters.

"According to the latest figures there are 4,400 boats registered in Marin County with an assessed valuation of $3,135,000, bringing in more than $275,000 in taxes," he said. "And what most non-boaters don't realize is that you are only a half day away from the delta region—one of the greatest protected waterways in the United States."

Richards specifically called attention to the small craft harbors study for California which is now being prepared by Lees, Hill and Jewitt of San Francisco and should be completed in November. Under questioning he said the report should be more complete than the A. D. Little report of 1961, which he admitted did not give much coverage to Marin County.

He noted that four members of the Division of Small Craft Harbors are working fulltime with the research firm, and recommended that persons having specialized knowledge of favorable Marin locations write to the division.

"If it has to do with boating, we're interested in it," he said.

Richards reported Marin County registrations show a greater percentage of boats over 15 feet in length than the state average. He attributed this substantially to larger personal incomes in the area.

Among current projects of the Division of Small Craft Harbors, he mentioned the newly formed California Navigation Conference to consolidate efforts in securing federal funds for special projects in the state. Heretofore, he said, these efforts have been divided between his own appearances before lawmakers' committees and those of private individuals and groups.

He advised persons interested in getting support for particular areas to write their local legislators to support the navigation conference. "It is amazing what a few letters to a legislator can do," he commented. "And don't wait for a special occasion. It's like a roller coaster—there's always another one coming along."

Richards also discussed at length his division's methods of financing small boat harbor projects, boating regulations which it is endeavoring to make as uniform as possible throughout the state and safety regulations.

Pressed during a question and answer period for advice as to what Marin County can do to improve its facilities, he said:

"You should take hold of what you have and orient business and restaurants toward attracting boating visitors. This meeting is a good start. Have a few more like it on the local level and I think you can work out your own problems."

22 Strep Cases Are Reported

Twenty-two cases of strep infections led the list of communicable diseases reported in Marin County last week, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

The spurt in strep infections was attributed to the opening of school which increases the chances for contagion.

Other diseases reported were gonorrhea, six; measles, five; mumps, five; syphilis, four; infectious hepatitis, salmonella and pertussis (whooping cough) one each.

Skunk In Theater

EAST GREENWICH, R.I. (UPI)—A skunk waddled into the Kent Theater last night and cleared the house five minutes after the start of the feature movie. "Come Blow Your Horn."

Demos Going 'Way Out For Annual Family Day

Marin County Democrats are going 'way out west for their fourth annual family day picnic Sept. 29.

Site of the picnic will be on the Tomales Bay side of the James Kehoe ranch near Tomales Point. Picnickers will get to the site by boat, leaving from Nick's Cove three miles north of Marshall.

Free boat service will be provided from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m., furnished by the Golden Hinde Boatel of Inverness and a chartered barge from Lawson's Landing, Dillons Beach.

Picnic chairman Thomas T. Storer of Point Reyes Station promises a variety of entertainment. There will be a strolling Mexican mariachis band, supervised swimming for children, hiking and some boating. The meal will be barbecued chicken.

Sponsors for the picnic are the Marin Democratic Central Committee and Council of Democratic Clubs. Ticket information may be obtained by calling Democratic headquarters in San Rafael.

M.P. Training

Army Pvt. Edward C. Clinton Jr., son of Mrs. Eldora Clinton, 105 Tomales Street, Sausalito, is scheduled to complete eight weeks of military police training at the Army Training Center, Fort Gordon, Ga., on Friday.

Buddhist Protest In Own Blood

PARIS (AP)—In a protest against the South Viet Nam regime, a Buddhist sliced himself with a dagger yesterday and with his own blood wrote a letter to the United Nations.

Nguyen Thang Thai, who identified himself as secretary-general of the International Buddhist Federation, ceremoniously cut himself before a crowd of 300 in a Paris park.

He inflicted a superficial one-inch gash in his chest. An aide collected the blood in a cup. Dipping a brush into the blood, Thai wrote in large Vietnamese characters:

"In the name of the Vietnamese people, we denounce the crimes committed by the Ngo Dinh Diem government and demand an outright condemnation of the violation of human rights in South Viet Nam."

Buena Vista Heights On Planning Agenda

Buena Vista Heights subdivision developers will present an oral proposal at the Sausalito Planning Commission meeting at 8 p.m. today in the city hall on a preliminary study of the traffic and street pattern for the development.

The commission will also hear a request to construct a combination locker-lavatory in the Sausalito Yacht Harbor for the Coast Guard, vice chairman Robert L. Nissen said.

Theft From Garage

Two battery chargers, valued at $36, were taken from a garage at the Everett Pozzi Co. on the Redwood Highway sometime between closing time Monday and opening yesterday, Theodore Johnson, foreman, reported to Novato police.

Novato Parks Group Works On Land Swap

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission will attempt to spur state interest in a swap of the state-owned Grant School property in Novato for the county-owned former Coleman School on Grand Avenue in San Rafael.

County Supervisor William Gnoss disclosed he made such a proposal to the State Division of Highways two months, ago, but it was turned down.

Monday night, Mrs. John Machado of 1424 Dawes Street, Novato, presented Gnoss's plan to the parks and recreation commission, which appointed a committee to try to promote interest in the proposal.

"I thought if we could exchange the properties, we might work something out with the city of Novato for a long-term lease for the Grant School like we had done with the Petaluma fairgrounds," Gnoss said. He suggested a branch county library might be put on the site.

He said the state needs part of the former Coleman School site, which the county acquired some years ago, for widening of Highway 101.

Commissioners Eugene Trombley and Alton Lerch were named to the committee to meet with Gnoss and the state. Also asked to assist the committee were City Administrator J. Julien Baget, parks and recreation director Edmund Mahaney, Councilman Howard Schoof, and Mrs. Machado, former commission member.

Firemen's Ball Tickets Mailed

Tickets have been mailed to all Sausalito residents inviting them to attend the 11th annual Sausalito Police and Firemen's Ball at 9 p.m., Oct. 5, in the IDESST Hall on Caledonia Street.

Proceeds will go to the police and firemen's welfare fund, according to Fire Capt. Harold Cardwell, who is chairman of activities along with Police officer Harvey Zion. Music will be provided by Dick Hart and his orchestra.

Cardwell said tickets are also available at the firehouse on Johnson Street and the police station in the city hall.

SAUSALITO HITS LANDSCAPING PLAN

Apartment Owners Told To Come Back To Council With Better Building Ideas

Sausalito city councilmen last night picked apart landscaping plans for the Cote d'Azur apartments and told owners to come back with better plans.

"There's not much of a secret that there's been some disappointment in the appearance of the Cote d'Azur," said Councilman Michael Harris.

Council members doubted that a seven-foot fence, entrance canopy and another canopy for the elevator shaft would improve the looks of the building on Alexander Avenue, facing Shelter Cove (Hurricane Gulch).

Councilmen asked that the proposed seven-foot fence, meant to hide roof top parking area near street level, be lowered to four and one-half feet, as it also would cut off other residents' view of water and city. The proposed canopies also were recommended to be lowered to the present roof line.

No specific action was taken on a brace of cannon proposed for permanent placement in front of the building, though councilmen grinned at the thought that they might give the city a "hostile" appearance.

The council also asked owners' representatives why work had been continued on the "landscaping," when a council committee still was studying the proposed construction, and asked why city officials had issued a building permit for some of the work.

With objections by Carl Spring of the Sausalito Citizens Council that the fence and cannon platform would encroach on the right-of-way for widening of Alexander Avenue, apartment representatives said they might "forget the whole thing."

The council took firm action on another apartment building, the Ebbtide Apartments above the Richardson Bay School.

Councilmen said they would go to court if necessary against Rudy Lang Construction Co. for selling off a portion of the apartment property in violation to the lot split provisions in the city's subdivision ordinance.

The Sausalito School District has filed a $10,000 suit against the company, which it charges chopped down 29 eucalyptus trees on school property.

The council voted unanimously to overrule four residents in the Sausalito Boulevard area in voting for preliminary moves to form an assessment district for paving 320 feet of the streeet in the area of Fourth Street.

Three residents of the eight in the proposed district appeared to protest costs which they said were over estimates. Another telegraphed disapproval.

Councilmen finally agreed to contribute $500 of the city's money toward moving a drainage box to cut cost to owners, and voted to form the district.

The council awarded a contract for construction to low bidder Lee Mac Paving Co., Corte Madera, at $9,355.

Total cost of the district will run to approximately $14,210, which includes a contingency sum against slides, unforseen construction costs and bond service fees, the council was told.

The Sausalito City Council also:

1. Set for next week's meeting a hearing on the proposed Marinship master plan.
2. Approved raising the city's public liability coverage from $200,000-$400,000 to $500,000 maximum coverage for one person and one million dollars coverage for any one accident.
3. Dropped consideration of a proposal to charge parking fees for tourist buses which stop in the city.
4. Continued to the Oct. 1 meeting an appeal from the city planning commission by the Sausalito Yacht Club, which wants to construct a yacht harbor in front of its building off Bridgeway.
5. Continued to the Oct. 1 meeting consideration of the city's acceptance of George Lane as a city street.
6. Approved payment of $37,048.02 in warrants.

Sausalito To Battle With State

"We don't like to have it rammed down our throats," said Mayor Paul Micou, and with that the Sausalito Council unanimously agreed to battle the State of California over a few words.

The words would force the council to state "untruthfully" that it agrees with a one-cent rise in the state tax on gasoline.

Councilmen said they don't agree but want the money which would be due to the city from it. The state has required that citys state their approval of the tax in signing papers making them eligible to receive the money.

Councilmen agreed to ask county supervisors to ask the state attorney general if the city must agree "untruthfully" to the state's wording. (A city may not direct a question to the state attorney general; a county may.)

"At least if we finally have this rammed down our throats, we'll know the direction the State of California is going," commented Councilman Carl W. Gabrielson.

Seniors' Income Held Minimum

"In California 40 per cent of the senior citizens are living on incomes of less than $1,000 a year," William Bechill of the California Citizens' Advisory Committee on Aging last night told a Novato senior citizens meeting in the community house.

Many of these people cannot afford the bare minimum of public housing for $33 a month, he declared.

A bill for publicly financed housing for the aged was defeated in the 1963 legislature by savings and loan associations, Bechill said.

"I have confidence that the problems of medical care and housing for the aging will be solved by the leaders of both parties," he concluded.

Board Evasive On Bolinas Beach Parking

"B others of Bolinas Beach" might have been the title for a fine melodrama before Marin County supervisors yesterday.

But confronted with a battle of Bolinas residents over whether the beach into which Wharf Road opens should be more for people or for cars, Supervisor Peter Behr took evasive tactics and sought peace through early action on two other points:

Early provision of more off-street parking at Bolinas will be sought.

Efforts to provide a new boat launching facility, perhaps with state aid.

"Whatever we do will never make everyone happy," said Behr, "but if we get action on those two points I think we can keep the beach closed to cars."

Since a chain barring the beach to vehicles has twice been cut, the board decided not to replace it but to give warning solely by sign that the beach is for people only. As many as 140 cars have been counted there recently, it was testified.

"The deputy sheriff is obligated to enforce the ordinance barring the beach to cars if a sign of notification is up," said Chairman William D. Fusselman.

Attorney Roderick P. Martinelli appeared on behalf of 151 residents who sent in a petition against closure of the beach to vehicles. But under questioning by Behr, Martinelli said residents probably would favor closure if off-street parking and a boat ramp were provided.

County Parks and Recreation Director Kelvin J. Nelson said he has possible sites for such facilities in mind, promising to provide them in a reasonable time.

A letter from Ernest D. Mendenhall Jr. of Wharf Road, Bolinas, suggested "replace the sign and forget the chain," advice which the supervisors took.

'Honest Not Best . . .'

NORTH STAFFORD, England (UPI) — The Rev. William Smith told his parishioners today that, unfortunately, honesty was not always the best policy. "It is well known in business that the honest man does not get on," he wrote in a magazine article.

San Anselmo Seeks To Curb Early Morn Planner Sessions

By WAT TAKESHITA

There will be no more 3:30 a.m. meetings of the San Anselmo Planning Commission, city officials decided last night at a joint meeting of planning commissioners and city councilmen.

To assure that planning commission meetings will wind up at a more reasonable hour, the joint group decided to streamline some of the procedures.

The one 3:30 a.m. meeting was an exception, said Ronald Hill, chairman of the planning commission. "Since then, we have decided to meet twice a month—on the third Monday, and then on the fourth Monday if needed."

"We've heard that you meet once, then if there's anything left over, you will hold the second meeting," said Mayor Arthur W. Smith. "I don't like that for this reason: People will have to sit through to the very end, then you tell them they'll have to come again at the next meeting."

"Under no circumstances have people sat through the first meeting and then had to come back to the second meeting because we couldn't get to it," insisted Hill. "We have a separate agenda prepared in advance, and people know which meeting to attend."

Here are some of the streamlining procedures worked out last night to help the planning commission:

1. Administrator Douglas J. Flautt said he would have City Engineer Arnold A. Sypher check each agenda item to make sure it is ready for presentation to the planning commission.

2. The planning commissioners need not answer hypothetical questions. If an incomplete subdivision map is presented, it should be rejected flatly.

"Some people come up to the $2 window and not only want to buy a ticket but also want to know which horse is going to win," said Administrator Flautt, "Those are the ones we want to cut off."

3. A new secretary may be hired to take minutes of planning commission meetings and handle necessary correspondence.

Here are some of the other points brought up last night:

The planning commission is subordinate to the council. The commissioners should not contact outside agencies like the State Division of Highways unless the council asks them to do so. The commissioners should go through the administrator's office if they want to consult with the city attorney, city engineer or other department heads.

On rezoning matters, the planning commission mails out notification cards to surrounding property owners. If the commission denies the rezoning, the case may be appealed to the city council. But on appeal, the surrounding property owners are not notified. City fathers decided that the council will send out notifications hereafter on appeal hearings.

Property owners along the strip of land between Miracle Mile and Redhill Avenue are faced with a deeper building setback line because the street may be widened in the future. The strip includes a Standard Service Station opposite United Market.

"One man wanted to put up a veterinary hospital next to the service station, but the setback requirements left him only five feet of space," said Hill. "If we're going to designate a widening area, we'd better move to buy it."

Demos Meeting—Blast On Right?

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) —Delegates arriving today for the Western States Democratic Conference expected to hear a blast against the right wing in the keynote address by Sen. Frank Church (D-Ida.).

Senator Church is scheduled to give the keynote address tomorrow.

Civil liberties and the right wing also is the subject of a panel discussion scheduled Friday morning. The panel chairman will be Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Ross School Needs Will Get Study

Members of a Citizens School Planning Committee were appointed yesterday to look into the needs of the Ross School District.

The district now has one school, 526 pupils in kindergarten through eighth grade, and a rate of enrollment increase of about 2 per cent yearly, Supt. William W. Monahan reported.

Citizen members of the committee who were appointed by Monahan are Philip F. Brown Jr., Kentfield; Dr. Malvern S. Dorinson, Peter Pike, Mrs. Leonard Martin, Mrs. Robert C. Broomhead, all of Ross.

Also on the committee will be school district architect Martin Rosse, teachers Mrs. Rena Safford, Mrs. Edith Alessio and Marion Gumz; trustee L. C. Maclise, and Monahan.

Marquis Refuses Oil Drilling On His Land

LONDON (UPI)—The Marquis of Ailesbury has rejected a bid by a firm to drill for oil in his forest at Marlborough, it was reported today.

"I suppose I might have become disgustingly rich. But frankly I don't want oil wells in my forest. I prefer trees," the 59-year-old aristocrat was quoted by the Daily Express.

Dionne Quints Tell Sad Tale Of Father, Feelings Of Guilt

NEW YORK (AP) — When Papa Dionne got his millionaire daughters away from the crown and Dr. Allan Dafoe, he put them to work cleaning the bathrooms in the mansion he built with their money, the quints say in their autobiography.

"It was the saddest home we ever knew," they added.

The life story, as told to James Brough by the four remaining quintuplets—Annette, Yvonne, Marie and Cecile — appears in the current issue of McCall's magazine.

In it they tell how the secret of the fifth quintuplet's epilepsy (Emilie died after an attack in 1954) was carefully guarded because "the family considered her illness a shameful thing," and how the five little girls were made to feel set apart from the rest of the family, and filled with a sense of guilt.

"If love begets love, guilt begets guilt," the 29-year-old quints said. "The air of the big house was thick with it. Mom and Dad behaved toward each others as though they had been partners in some unspoken crime in bringing us into the world. We were drenched with a sense of having sinned from the hour of our birth."

The quints, who spent their first seven years in a special government-built and government-supervised nursery on the family farm at Callendar, Ontario, were "wards of his majesty" by an act of the Canadian Parliament and were cared for by a corps of nurses, teachers and guards superintended by Dr. Dafoe, the country doctor who had delivered them.

They describe these early years as happy and carefree, but recall few pleasant memories of their life after they returned to the family — a victory for their father, Oliva Dionne, after a long legal battle against Dafoe

"Dad wanted us and the quintuplet funds in his own exclusive custody," the sisters said. "In the beginning he needed money for the sake of the other children. But afterward, his fortunes improved, it made no difference. By then, it was a matter of selfesteem that he should win. We were such a prize."

Today, three of the quints are married and mothers and the fourth, Yvonne, is in a convent.

Cecile, the wife of television technician Philippe Langlois, was the first of the quints to have a child. She now has three sons and a daughter. Two of the boys are twins.

Annette, hose husband, Germain Allard, is a finance company executive, has three sons, and Marie, wife of government clerk Florent Houle, has two daughters.

Protest Group Is Forming To Save Terra Linda Hill

A "grass roots" protest group is being formed to oppose rezoning of a Terra Linda Valley Hill for multiple occupancy.

"Let's face it, we moved from San Francisco for the green hills," said Mrs. Keith E. Roberts of Terra Linda Valley which is in San Rafael.

In hope of retaining the hill in its present natural condition, area residents will meet at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Oliver R. Hartzell School to discuss ways of opposing zoning before the San Rafael Planning Commission.

The proposal to change the zoning from the present unclassified category to use as a multiple residence sites will be given public hearings by the city planning commission next Tuesday and again on Oct. 8.

The zoning change would affect 14.75 acres in the area surrounded by Nova Albion Way, Los Ranchitos Road, Golden Hinde Boulevard and abutting on Sao Augustine Way and Estero Way.

Moderator of the protest meeting will be John King, principal of Lucas Valley School.

Fusselman Sees Danger Of Federal Rec Control

County Supervisor Chairman William D. Fusselman voiced a warning yesterday against letting the federal government gain too many controls in Marin through "a bribe" of additional park acquisition funds.

Other members of the board of supervisors seemed to consider the warning timely and agreed to postpone to next Tuesday any action to apply for more federal money as suggested by the Assn. of Bay Area Governments.

The association sent a letter pointing out that counties and cities are eligible to apply for federal assistance to preserve open space for park, recreation, conservation, scenic and historic purposes, not to exceed 20 per cent of the value of the land. But 30 per cent grants are possible "where public agencies in a region participate in an intergovernmental agreement providing for the coordination of acquisition."

The letter said applications for both 20 and 30 per cent matching grants must be reviewed by "some agency at the regional level" and that ABAG has served as such an agency. The 30 per cent grants are obtainable with inauguration of an ABAG regional planning program, it said.

"The federal government wants control! snorted Fusselman. "I would rather keep our freedom instead of that extra 10 per cent."

County Parks and Recreation Director Kelvin J. Nelson conceded that there is no provision for withdrawal from such a pact and "there should be."

Although Supervisor Peter Behr observed that "unless we get regional planning we'll all go down the drain together" he also felt that there should be no surrender of basic local authority and agreed to continuance while more facts were obtained.

The supervisors also:

1. Appointed John J. Kingston criminal investigator at $606 monthly and Korolan Motta telephone operator-receptionist at $345, both to district attorney; Thomas Cotta, Hubert Black, Ronald Tatum and Jacqueline Monahan, group conselors at $486 to juvenile hall; Miriam Bostwick, social worker, welfare, at $531, and William McDaniel, gardener helper at $360 and Warren Wright, assistant mechanic at $465, Department of Public Works.

2. Appointed to vacancies on the Citizens' Advisory Committee on Development of Marin County Mrs. E. F. Pierce of Corte Madera, Roy H. Johnes of San Anselmo, and Rev. Donald Schilling of Marin City.

3. Approved completion of agreement for Book Publishing Co. to codify county ordinances, provided in 1963-64 budget.

4. Accepted a bid of $26,245.44 by Rossi Garage, lowest of four bidders, to furnish four five-yard dump trucks.

5. Approved plans for slide stabilization on White's Hill and for widening of North San Pedro Road near the Civic Center.

6. Changed name of San Jose Boulevard to Ignacio Boulevard, and authorized naming the new east service road between St. Vincent's and Ignacio overpasses of Highway 101 Nave Drive, honoring pioneer Peter Nave who farmed in Novato for 75 years after arrival in the 1880s.

7. Found there was open space available at the former county hospital and farm for use of the Juvenile Hall Auxiliary, and authorized this use.

8. Appropriated $3,874 for Public Works Department plumbing replacements at the county jail, conditional on county counsel concurrence that this need not be put out for bid.

Interest Lacking In Bus Campaign

The campaign to get bus transportation for 78 pupils living east of Highway 101 in Corte Madera who attend seventh and eighth grades at Neil Cummins School may collapse if parents don't show more interest.

Herbert Leney, president of the Mariner Cove Improvement Assn., today said few parents had written or phoned their interest to Gilbert Slusher, financial coordinator of Larkspur School District, 20 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur.

The association also is seeking to set up bus service for 120 or so students in the same area who attend Redwood High School.

Apartments Plan Backed By Board

Marin County supervisors decided yesterday that despite adverse opinion of neighboring Corte Madera residents, Cypress Properties Inc. should be allowed to proceed with apartment construction on the eight-acre Paganini property. They confirmed planning commission decision not to rezone to single-family.

Residents had asked the board to rezone from light industrial classification, allowing apartments, the unincorporated area west of Highway 101, south of the railroad tracks and across from Fifer Industrial Park.

Dobbs estimated that only 30 to 40 single-family units could be built as compared with 224 or more apartment units now planned.

Representatives from 108 countries belong to the International Labor Organization.

Mount Tam Subdivision Barred By Supervisors

Preservation of the 15-acre Scott property on Mount Tamalpais from subdivision for at least two years was assured yesterday by action of Marin County supervisors in authorizing a rental agreement.

This followed suggestion by the Marin Rod and Gun Club that money required beyond funds already pledged to cover a two-year $200-a-month lease-purchase agreement be drawn from county fine money held "for propagation and preservation of wild life."

Discussion brought out that of the $4,800 needed for two years, the county has guaranteed $2,400 and private groups have pledged $1,700.

"So we're talking about only $700 of fines money," said Supervisor Peter Behr, chief protagonist of preserving the property. "Quite likely the state will be in position to take this off our hands for addition to Tamalpais State Park before the two years is up."

Moore Loses Council Race

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Former light-heavyweight boxing champion Archie Moore dropped his second decision in as many tries at the polls yesterday, finishing fifth in a field of six candidates in a city council election.

The "Old Mongoose" got 2,106 votes of 15,728 cast in the race. Produce wholesaler Tom Hom got 3,977 votes to lead and will face the Rev. Grandison Phelps, a Negro minister, in a run-off in November.

Mantegani Cites City Advantages

Control over civic matters including planning and police protection, and civic pride were cited as the chief blessings of incorporation by Fred Mantegani to 100 persons who jammed Tiburon Tommie's last night for a Tiburon incorporation fund-raising dinner.

Mantegani admitted that several years ago he was not sold on incorporation because he did not feel real estate values were sufficient to merit it.

"I now feel," he said, "that we have reached that position where we must give Tiburon the type of service that will offer residents maximum security in health, community life and safety."

He reminded the group that when incorporated, the city could exercise architectural supervision. He also recommended close supervision over recreation areas, stating "we want Tiburon to become the prime recreation center of the Bay Area."

Control over juvenile delinquency through establishment of a curfew was also cited as an argument in favor of incorporation.

"I am a firm believer in home rule," he said.

Mantegani gave special thanks to Fred G. Zelinsky in the progress made so far in incorporating. "He owns perhaps more property in this area than any other individual and incorporation is going to affect it directly. His great, generous spirit has placed the interest of the city of Tiburon above his own personal interests," Mantegani concluded.

Over $500 was raised at the dinner, to be used toward expenses of incorporation, according to Elva Paske, Tiburon incorporation committee chairman.

Dark Clouds Hanging Over Marin, Rain Due

Dark clouds hung over Marin today and the prognostication from the Weather Bureau was for occasional rain tonight but fair skies tomorrow.

A heavy downpour in Southern California took the Weather Bureau and sun-loving Los Angeles residents by surprise yesterday. The tropical strom dumped an inch of rain in Los Angeles and .51 of an inch in San Diego.

The storm veered to the east before doing any damage to the Central Valley raisin crop. But there were a few sprinkles in Marin last night, with wet pavements reported in most areas around 10 p.m.

Tonight's anticipated rain will come from another storm moving down from the north and running parallel to the coast.

The forecast held some promise of another early winter. It began last Thursday when a brief shower brought .18 of an inch.

Last year the season got off to an even earlier start on Aug. 8 when .29 of an inch fell in Marin. That was followed with a brief shower Sept. 28.

Osteopath College Gets President

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A former Californian will replace Dr. Joseph M. Peach, president of the Kansas City College of Osteopathy and Surgery since 1940, who will retire Jan. 1 because of ill health.

The announcement was made yesterday by Eugene B. Sayles, president of the board of trustees.

Peach will be succeeded by Dr. Richard E. Eby, 51, of Chicago, an executive assistant of the American Osteopathic Assn.

Dr. Eby practiced in California from 1939 to 1962.

Penders Due Salary Drop

Joseph F. Penders may take a $183 drop in salary when his demotion from Mill Valley park superintendent to greenskeeper becomes effective Nov. 30.

He now receives $676 per month, the top in his salary range being $710. When his demotion is effective he will receive a wage in the category of senior groundsman which is $405-$493. (There is no greenskeeper salary category; it comes under groundsman.)

City Mgr. A. E. Almcrants, who ordered the demotion Monday charging Penders with inefficiency, said a committee will be appointed by the city council to set up basic qualifications for a new superintendent and the nature of the examination to be given. This information goes to the state cooperative personnel service, who will prepare an examination. Almcrants estimated it will take 60 to 90 days before the position can be filled.

FAIRFAX MAY MEET ON UNIFICATION

Trustees To Ask For Public Hearing On Proposal For Tam High District

Trustees of the Fairfax School District will ask for a local public hearing on proposed unification of Tamalpais High School District.

The board's decision last night followed reading of a letter from John E. Cahill of Kentfield, representing the Citizens Committee Against Unification of the Tamalpais High School District as a Whole. The letter urged that the board request a local hearing rather than a combined hearing with some other district.

The unification proposals would put high school and elementary schools under one governing board.

In other business, the board agreed to pay $500 to the City of Fairfax to aid in maintaining playground facilities next to Central School.

Trustees approved a policy for admitting children to first grade before completion of a full year of kindergarten. Students approved for the move must be mature, intelligent five-year-olds, state law decrees. The board voted last night that moves from kindergarten to first grade will be made only during the first two months of school in the fall.

Model U.N. Today

A community committee for the model United Nations will be organized at a meeting of civic and fraternal group leaders at 8 p.m. today in the Marin Civic Center.

DODGER HEROES—Frank Howard (left) and Sandy Koufax were the stars last night as the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the St. Louis Cardinals 4-0 in their crucial game. Howard hit a home run to help Koufax pick up his 11th shutout of the season. (AP Wirephoto)

Cards Turn Cold At Hands Of Dodgers

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

With only 87 pitches, splendid southpaw Sandy Koufax has made the St. Louis Cardinals as much of a long-shot as Gen. Custer.

Making their last stand in a vital three-game series with the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, the Cardinals lost for the second night in a row yesterday as Koufax spun a four-hit, 4-0 shutout and posted a record-setting 11th shutout.

The loss, only the third in the last 22 games for St. Louis, left the Cardinals three games back—four in the all-important loss colmn. Including the finale of the series tonight, the Cardinals have only eight games remaining to 10 for the Dodgers.

While leaving the Cardinals with only a long-shot chance of overtaking the Dodgers, Koufax also made the night a personal triumph by becoming the first lefthander in major league history to post 11 shutouts, and the most prolific shutout pitcher since 1916.

Koufax, who has a 24-5 record, broke the shutout mark for lefthanders set by Carl Hubbell, who pitched 10 for the 1933 New York Giants. Koufax' 11th was the most by any pitcher since Grover Cleveland Alexander pitched 16 for the Philadelphia Phillies in 1916.

While the Cardinals and Dodgers were playing the big one, San Francisco clubbed Milwaukee 11-3, Philadelphia downed the New York Mets 8-6, Cincinnati edged Houston 4-3 and Chicago and Pittsburgh split. The Cubs took the opener of a twi-nighter 3-1, the Pirates the nightcap 4-3.

Cleveland edged the American League champion New York Yankees 3-2 in 10 innings, the Chicago White Sox defeated Boston 2-1, Minnesota downed Detroit 3-1 and Kansas City nipped Washington 4-3 in 10 innings. The Washington at Los Angeles twi-nighter was rained out.

The fireballing Koufax, the fleet Maury Wills and the towering Frank Howard all played key roles in the Dodgers' victory.

Koufax was the key man. He had a no-hitter until Stan Musial, the Cardinals' 42-year-old grandpa, lined a single to center leading off the seventh, and he allowed the Cardinals two hits only in the eighth inning.

At that point, Tim McCarver and Julian Javier were on with singles, but Koufax got Dick Groat, tied for the league batting lead, to line out to Willie Davis for the inning-ending out.

Wills scored the only run Koufax needed when he led off the first with a single off Curt Simmons, 15-8, stole second, raced to third on a wild pitch and scampered home on a double by Jim Gilliam.

Howard provided additional working room with a homer in the eighth following a single by Tommy Davis and the Dodgers closed out the scoring in the ninth on an infield hit by Willie Davis, his steal of second and a double by Johnny Roseboro.

Giants Ruin Warren Spahn's Celebration In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants had the same grip on third place that the Los Angeles Dodgers did on first today.

While the Dodgers disposed of St. Louis last night to grab a three-game lead, the Giants ruined a moving tribute to Warren Spahn when they knocked the veteran southpaw out after three innings on the way to an 11-3 romp over the Braves.

The win shoved Milwaukee from fourth to sixth and put the Giants three games up on Philadelphia, the team now in fourth place in the tangled senior league standings.

Orlando Cepeda collected a homer and two singles to continue his remarkable late-season hitting spree. The National League hitting derby currently shows seven men crossed in between .317 and .323 and Cepeda is in fourth place in this pack with an even .320 average. The batting title undoubtedly won't be decided until the last day of the campaign.

A crowd of 33,676 turned out to pay tribute to Spahn, probably the league's all-time greatest lefthander, but the Giants battered him for four runs in three innings to send him down to his seventh loss against 20 wins.

Felipe Alou and Jose Pagan joined Cepeda in hitting homers, while Jimmy Davenport went 4-for-4 to spark the Giants' attack.

Bobby Bolin went all the way for the Giants to improve his record to a solid 9-5. He was clubbed for 10 hits, but kept them pretty well scattered. Gene Oliver's two-run homer was the biggest blow off him.

Jack Sanford (15-13) was scheduled to toe the slab today against Bob Sadowski (5-6) of the Braves.

Major League Managers Are Fast Turning Into 'Military Generals'

CONNOLLY

The military bug of mimicking field generals, really has bitten big league managers this year. More and more, and in both the American and National leagues, the trend is leaning toward (what sports writers laughingly refer to) strategy.

Johnny Keane, the efficient and very sensible St. Louis Card manager gave us an example Monday night when he yanked pitcher Ernie Broglio for a pinch hitter and his sub pitcher lost the ball game. The move was later explained by Keane that "Broglio was tiring." But a little less maneuvering and shifting of the lineup would be greatly appreciated by the fans.

ALVIN Dark of the Giants is another "field general" who never seems satisfied unless he is monkeying with the batting order, lifting pitchers to secure more power at the plate and getting less strength in his pitching.

One of these days some owner is going to rate his manager with stars to distinguish him from a "second looie" and a four-star field general. They may even make the managers wear side bars on their uniforms.

I think if field managing keeps on with the "general tactics" the Army officer corp will boycott baseball as an infringement on their profession. In my book the managers' duties should be to throw his best lineup in the game at the start. If somebody faints or has to leave the game before it is over, then the manager has slipped up somewhere along the line. A manager shouldn't start his best pitcher for the day and then follow him up with a third or fourth choice guy who does nothing to help the starting pitcher, except lose the game.

THE TWO-platoon system was started by Casey Stengel when with the Yanks because he was over-stocked with good players, pitchers included. So he kept the second stringers ready by using them before they went to seed.

Ralph Houk, who followed Stengel, is doing the same thing.

To the Yankees these days there is very little to choose from between the regulars and the utility men. But not many other clubs can brag about being so situated.

WHEN THE S.F. Giants pick their starting pitcher, he's the best available that day and when he pops out, the reliever is strictly second class material, you might even say real raw material.

It is much better to start a good pitcher and relieve with a good one, and win the ball game, than to start with a good one and then follow up a recruit who loses the game.

That sort of pitcher shifting by would-be field generals among the National League managers is becoming contagious. In fact it has gripped even the St. Louis Cards, hell-bent for a pennant.

On another occasion Al Dark of the Giants relieved with Juan Marichal and lost the game, so it doesn't always follow that two good pitchers will win for you. The percentage is to use two good pitchers.

One of these days Managers will forget friendships and get capable coaches to assist them. When they do, the coaches will teach a big league player how to bunt and how to run the bases. Let's hope it doesn't take too long for this switch in baseball.

Bears' Calegari Will Probably Miss Opener

BERKELEY (UPI) — Veteran guard Ron Calegari will probably miss the Iowa State opener because of a leg infection, according to California coach Marv Levy.

But quarterback Craig Morton participated in a contact drill yesterday at full speed, Levy added. The coach planned to put his troops through a closed drill today.

Baseball Champs

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (AP)—Coldwater, Mich., exploded for four runs in the first inning last night and went on to crush Seattle 11-1 for the championship of the American Amateur Baseball Congress.

Winters Gridder Dies Of Injury

WOODLAND (AP) — Douglas Baldridge, husky 17-year-old tackle on the Winters High School football team, died yesterday of an embolism resulting after he suffered a fractured leg in a game last Friday night.

Baldridge was brought to Woodland Memorial Hospital after his leg was broken in the third quarter of Winters game with Esparto that Winters won 47-0.

Doctors said the embolism condition developed Saturday, apparently from intrusion of bone marrow into the bloodstream. The embolism eventually caused a fatal circulation block.

Baldridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred William Baldridge, won all league honors with the Winters team last season.

Joe Perry Reports To 49er Drill

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers want to find out whether 36-year-old veteran Joe Perry has a few touchdowns left in him — and give him a chance to collect his National Football League pension at the same time.

Perry reported for workout yesterday as Coach Red Hickey let his boys loosen up as they wanted to.

The San Franciscans, who lost their opener last Saturday to the Minnesota Vikings, meet Perry's former teammates — Baltimore—Sunday at Kezar Stadium.

Joe has been playing pro ball for 16 years, but must play three games this season if he's to qualify for his NFL pension. All his time before 1959 does not count.

Hickey plans to use Perry enough to qualify him for his retirement money. And he won't mind if Perry repays him by winning a ball game or two in the process.

Japanese Leftie Wins Flyweight Title With KO

TOKYO — Japanese southpaw Hiroyuki Ebihara took the world flyweight crown tonight with a first round knockout over champion Pone Kingpetch of Thailand.

The heavily favored 23-year-old Ebihara decked Kingpetch with a left to the jaw and then put him down for keeps a second time with another left to the button.

The knockout came after 2:07 of the first stanza and created pandemonium in the capacity crowd of 12,000 at the Tokyo Metropolitan Gymnasium.

Oklahoma Sinks Spokane To Win Pacific Coast League

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

They're still celebrating in Oklahoma City today and for good reason. The 89'ers, in a brilliant come-from-behind effort, have won the Pacific Coast League championship.

Manager Grady Hatton's club won the crown in its first year in the league, defeating Spokane in the final game of a best of seven series last night, 4-0.

Ben Johnson and Tom Borland combined efforts to record the second straight shutout victory for Oklahoma City. Spokane did not score a run in the final 24 innings and but two in the last 31 frames.

The Indians outhit the new champions, 9-7, but only three runners reached second base and one got as far as third. Joe Moeller, the first of four pitchers, was charged with the loss, his second in the playoffs. He lasted two-thirds of an inning and was tagged for the first run on one hit and three bases on balls.

The 89'ers scored a pair in the third on back-to-back doubles by Carroll Hardy and Dave Roberts. Roberts crossed the plate on catcher Joe Wooten's single. They scored again in the fourth on a run-producing single by Danny Murphy.

Architect Calls New Marin Golf Course Layout 'Ideal'

Vernon Macan, internationally known golf course architect, was a Bay Area visitor Monday to do some site studies on his latest layout, the new San Geronimo Valley Country Club in Marin County.

Macan, an 81-year-old dean of his profession, terms the site for the San Geronimo development as "ideal in every respect. It is a perfectly natural site," he continued, "a nice gentle terrain with a number of beautiful trees. This course will have a great deal of character and beauty and will be designed as a challenge for golfers of all capabilities."

Macan came to North America from Ireland in 1912 as a young graduate of Dublin's Trinity College. He settled in Vancouver, British Columbia and quickly built a reputation as one of the area's finest amateur golfers. As such, he was asked to design the Royal Colwood Country Club course in Victoria which exists today as one of the finest courses in the Pacific Northwest. This job launched him on a career which has become all but legendary in the world of golf.

Although he has done more than 30 golf courses, he likes to call special attention to the following: The Shaughnessy Golf and Country Club of Vancouver; the California Golf Club of San Francisco; and the Inglewood Golf and Country Club, the site of last week's Seattle Open. He also did the Columbia Edgewater course, the scene of this week's Portland tournament.

The San Geronimo Valley course will measure more than 6,500 yards and play to a par of 72. It will be located in the center of San Geronimo Valley.

The club is organized as non-profit and non-promotional and is presently subscribing 400 members at a fee of $2,500 to meet the development cost of $1,000,000. It is indicated that construction will start next spring on facilities which will also include a clubhouse of close to 20,000 square feet, a swimming pool and tennis courts.

Six Lettermen Form Nucleus For Cadets

All-Bay Counties League end Jim Sulger and five other returning lettermen will form the nucleus of the San Rafael Military Academy's varsity football team which will open its 1963 schedule Friday afternoon.

Coach Larry Fulton's Cadets get their baptism of fire against Salesian High at the SRMA gridiron starting at 3:15 o'clock.

Sulger is rated one of the academy's finest ends in recent years. En route to his all-league status last season the 6-foot-1, 160-pounder snagged 42 passes for 368 yards.

Other returning lettermen are wingback Roger Ulrich, 6-0, 165; guard Dick Squire, 5-9, 155; tackle Chris Candee, 6-0, 190; end John Hishijima, 5-6, 140; and fullback Bel Baruh, 5-10, 160. Baruh earned his letter as a freshman last year and was described by Fulton as ". . . our most outstanding defensive back."

Other promising prospects for the Cadets are Mike Baird, a 6-2, 200-pound tackle who transferred from Sequoia High where he played two years of varsity ball; center Randy Townsend, 6-2, 20, up from two seasons on the junior varsity; Pat Kerr, 5-9, 165-pound fullback, a transfer from Fort Bragg High; tackle Mark Jory, 6-2, 200, up from the JVs; wingback Tony Fahden, 5-10, 140; and quarterback Bill Jelden, also 5-10, 140.

Fahden runs the 100-yard dash in 10 seconds, according to Fulton, and Roger Ulrich is a fine receiver with great speed at wingback. With he and Sulger on the receiving end, the Cadets are expected to pass a lot.

The Cadets will use the double wing and "I" formations in their nine-game schedule. Assisting Fulton on the coaching staff are Don Baikie, Pete Hayward and Norm Paterson.

Fulton picks his Cadets third in the Bay Counties League behind Lick Wilmerding and the California School for the Deaf.

Toothsome Treats For The Dieters—

Americans love to finish off their lunch and dinner with a sweet. And why not, if the dessert is planned to round out the meal?

"But, the calories!" remains the familiar refrain from those who must watch the over-all calorie count.

DURING THE weight reduction classes sponsored by the Marin County Heart Assn. during September and conducted upon physician referrals, dieters will learn that not all desserts have to be forsaken.

Dietitian instructing the course, Mrs. Frances Dahl of Corte Madera, has prepared the following low-calorie desserts which will provide a toothsome treat for the dieter and family members as well.

STRAWBERRY WHIP

(Makes 5 Servings—90 calories per serving)

- 2 packages low calorie strawberry gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1-10 oz. package frozen strawberries, partially thawed
- ⅓ cup water—ice cold
- ½ cup instant nonfat dry milk

Dissolve gelatin in the 1 cup boiling water, cool and add fruit. Let chill until slightly jelled. Whip cold water and dry milk with electric beater until very stiff. Fold into jellied strawberry mixture.

ORANGE-PINEAPPLE SHERBET

(Makes 20 servings of ½ cup each. Each serving 58 calories)

- 1 6-ounce can frozen unsweetened orange juice concentrate
- 1 6-ounce can frozen unsweetened pineapple juice concentrate
- 3½ cups cold water
- 2 tablespoons liquid sugar substitute
- 1 cup nonfat dry milk solids

Set refrigerator control at coldest setting. Put all ingredients into a 2-quart mixing bowl in the order given above. Beat just enough to blend. Pour into ice cube trays, freeze 1 to 2 hours until half frozen. Remove to large mixing bowl (best results if bowl is chilled). Beat on low speed until softened: then beat on high speed 3 to 5 minutes until creamy but not liquid. Return to ice cube trays and freeze.

AMBROSIA MOLDS

(Makes 8 molds—90 calories each)

- 1 package lime flavored gelatin—low calorie
- 1 cup boiling water
- ¾ cup pineapple juice
- 2 tablespoons lime or lemon juice
- ⅓ cup instant nonfat dry milk
- 2 cups melon balls, strawberries, oranges, or fresh pineapple, sweetened with a low caloric sweetener.

Place gelatin in small bowl of electric mixer. Add boiling water. When gelatin is dissolved, add pineapple and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Sprinkle dry skim milk powder on surface of gelatin and whip until fluffy. Turn into molds and chill until firm. Unmold on dessert dishes and spoon on any of above fresh fruits or a combination of them.

Note: Other flavors of gelatin may be used. Example, strawberry gelatin with fresh strawberries.

CHOCOLATE BAVARIAN

(Makes 10 servings — each contains 65 calories.)

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatin
- 2 tablespoons water
- ¼ cup cocoa
- 1 cup skim milk
- 2 teaspoons liquid sugar substitute
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup nonfat dry milk solids
- 1 cup ice water

Soften gelatin in the 2 tablespoons cold water. Meanwhile make a paste of the cocoa and milk. Heat over boiling water; add softened gelatin and sugar substitute, stirring until gelatine dissolves. Remove from heat, add vanilla and let stand until mixture thickens. Combine dry milk and ice water. Beat on high speed of mixer until consistency of whipped cream. Beat gelatin mixture smooth and gradually add to the whipped milk. Spoon into mold and chill until firm.

These Chops Are Marinated

Teriyaki Pork Chops
Steamed Rice
Skewered Fruit Green Salad
Coconut Tart Beverage

TERIYAKI PORK CHOPS

- 4 pork chops, ¾ inch thick (about 1 pound)
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 4¼ teaspoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon minced crystallized ginger
- 1 small clove garlic, crushed

Trim all but ¼ inch of fat from around chops. In a shallow dish mix together the soy sauce, sugar, ginger and garlic. Spoon marinade over chops and allow to stand in it about 1 hour. Place chops on a rack in broiler pan. Broil slowly until brown on one side; brush with marinade; turn to broil other side. Brush with remaining marinade just before removing from broiler. Allow about 25 minutes total broiling time; cut a slit near the bone to make sure meat is white through. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Use a Japanese-type soy sauce for strongest flavor. Rinse ginger in hot water to soften before mincing.

Harvest Shortcake

Heat halved and seeded Tokay grapes for 10 minutes in maple-flavored syrup "spiked" with a little ground cinnamon and cloves. Serve immediately over split warm shortcake biscuits; top with whipped or sour cream.

Almond Brownies

Add roasted diced almonds to your favorite brownie recipe for special lunch box treats. For the family's supper, top these almond-laden brownies with ice cream and hot fudge sauce. Sprinkle with more almonds.

NEW VARIATION

Bread Baked In Flower Pots May Be Served With A Flair

These miniature raisin breads, baked in whimsical flower pot shapes, provide an ever new variation on the theme of delicious raisin yeast bread. They are baked in tiny flower pots to create their partyish effect. Serve them up with flair, prettily glazed and with a colorful artificial flower gracing each rounded top.

VARIETY stores and greenhouses are sure to have unglazed flower pots at inexpensive prices. This recipe calls for a dozen pots, about 2½-inches in diameter. Grease them well for baking, then insert a small circle of foil to cover the bottom hole. Each bread bakes to a beautiful golden brown in these fun and fancy containers.

MUSCAT RAISIN FLOWER POT LOAVES

- 1 cup seeded raisins
- ⅔ cup milk
- ½ cup finely chopped mixed candied fruits and peels
- 2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
- ¼ cup warm water
- 2 eggs
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 4 cups sifted flour
- ½ cup soft butter or margarine

Chop raisins slightly. Add milk; heat to boiling. Remove from heat and add candied fruit. Cool to lukewarm. Soften yeast in warm water in warm bowl. Beat eggs. Combine with sugar, salt, vanilla and raisin mixture. Add softened yeast and 2 cups flour; beat very well. Add remaining flour and butter. Mix to moderately soft dough. Turn out on floured board; knead until smooth. Place in lightly greased bowl, cover and let rise until double in size, 1½ to 2 hours. Turn out on board and divide into 12 equal pieces. Grease well 12 small unglazed flower pots (about 2½-inches diameter, 2¾-inches deep). Place small circle of foil in pots to cover bottom hole. Place dough firmly in greased pots. Cover with dampened cloth; let rise until light and double, about 1 hour. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 30 to 40 minutes or until the loaves test done. If tops brown too quickly, cover with strip of foil during last 10 minutes of baking. If desired, spread tops of warm loaves with powdered sugar thinned with orange juice or milk. Makes 12 small flower pot loaves.

MINIATURE raisin breads baked in whimsical flower pots create a partyish effect.

Should Computer George Do Our Pesticide Chores?

County Agricultural Commissioner Dick Straw has done a most useful job in his comprehensive report on Marin County "Pesticides — Their Usage and Possible Hazards," presented yesterday to the board of supervisors.

Declining to join in the furor of apprehension stirred up by Rachel Carson, first in a New Yorker magazine series and later in her book, "Silent Spring," Straw demonstrates himself a philosopher. (This comes natural in Marin County for those prepared to relax and enjoy themselves.)

Straw notes both the basic dangers so ably brought out through Miss Carson's writings, and the unhappy demonstrations of her thesis through recent California deaths of fish and wild life because of application of insecticides to agricultural crops. But his challenging point is this:

> In all such cases these mishaps were traceable to either incompetent or improper practices on the part of the person applying the material; nevertheless, the notoriety was merited and the accompanying criticism justified.
>
> As in so many fields, including medicine, where the human element is involved, carelessness and accidents can and will occur. No one will attempt to excuse the incompetent use of these materials; however, these infrequent mishaps should never let us lose sight of the fact that pesticides have made, and will continue to make, a tremendous contribution to public health and to the abundant food supply we now enjoy.
>
> Pesticides have certainly received a great deal of notoriety with very little favorable publicity. The beneficial side of the story should be made known so the public can make a better appraisal of the values of pesticides.

Straw then proceeds to cite convincing examples not merely of aid to agriculture but actual saving of human lives.

Note, for example, a federal claim that use of D.T.T. for control of malaria (now virtually stamped out in this country), typhus, dysentery and other diseases has caused the saving of five million lives and prevention of a hundred thousand illnesses—though these publications offer no easy solution for the over-population problems we are now helping to accentuate.

Straw's 13-page report is specific about all types of pesticides used in Marin County. He faces up squarely to the possible hazards but in general he is reassuring on such points as concerning mosquito control: "The various pesticides utilized by the (Marin County Mosquito Abatement) District are types which disintegrate rapidly after application and therefore have a short residual life." Neither these nor other locally used chemicals seem to offer notable dangers to man or beast under current conditions of use.

One must always, moreover, keep in mind the situation if we hadn't used or weren't using such agents. Consider our recent past when "hordes of mosquitoes caused farm hands to quit their jobs and milk production was curtailed in many areas."

At times the mosquito afflictions were so grievous that commuters, walking to and from trains because the motor age had not yet set in, "wore mosquito netting over their heads for protection." Moreover:

"In the Novato area, real estate was sold only in the dead of winter, and smudge pots were used on Fourth Street in San Rafael to keep mosquitoes out of stores during the evening hours."

The good old days weren't after all quite so good as we sometimes like to think. Even now, country roadside weed maintenance has a toxic effect comparable to the range of common table salt, and so far as pesticides are concerned "blackberries may be picked and eaten from any bush that is in healthy condition." The modern problem is mostly to find the berries.

WELFARE BOARD CURBED

State Director Taking Over Policy And Rules Powers

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The seven-member state social welfare board—long the target of critics as being too liberal and over-powerful — will lose its policy-making and rule adoption powers on Friday.

The board under new legislation will assume the role of a study group and advisory body. The director of social welfare, now J. M. Wedemeyer, will take over policy-making and rule functions.

To most persons, not only welfare recipients but those who are paying the bill or administering the programs in the counties, there will be no overnight change. Those who claim too much money is going to chiselers or to promote delinquency will still make the same claim.

WEDEMEYER SAID there will be a number of different procedures used under the new administration, most of them recommended by the welfare study commission which recommended the transfer of powers.

"One important thing is that we hope to develop a series of planning conferences with the counties," Wedemeyer said, "so we can sit down in advance of adoption of rules and regulations and explore the various needs."

On one point where there has been friction in the past — county personnel — Wedemeyer said a new bureau is set up in the department to handle this operation. The director said he is required by law to see that there is some sort of merit system in the county personnel but hopes the counties would turn to their own civil service systems.

Wedemeyer said the biggest problem he sees in the welfare picture now is the discrepancy between resources of the various counties.

"I REGRET very much that the legislature did not adopt the recommendation of the welfare study commission in providing some sort of cost-sharing between the counties," Wedemeyer said. "The legislature adopted just about all of the recommendations of the commission but that one."

Wedemeyer said he hoped action would be taken by a future legislature to provide some sort of eqalization aid to counties, much the same as school funds now are apportioned partially on the basis of need.

The transfer of powers from the board to the director was largely the result of the senate committee on labor and welfare headed by Sen. James A. Cobey (D-Merced). In several reports, the committee was highly critical of the board and recommended it be stripped of its policy-making powers.

Cobey authored the measure, SB1117, which brought about the change.

During the past 18 years that the board held the full policy power over the welfare program, it often was at odds with county officials and others. The board had the duty of setting up such new programs as the medical care for the aged and the aid to totally and permanently disabled which were adopted by the legislature.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Whites Should Face Truth

Editor, Independent-Journal:

A San Francisco religious leader recently observed that the Negro is tired of looking into a mirror and seeing a sociological problem.

I was reminded of this cogent statement recently while reading "The Negro in America," by Arnold Rose, the classic condensation of Gunnar Myrdal's "The American Dilemma." In this book there are several quotations Ray Stannard Baker wrote.

It keeps coming to me that this is more a white man's problem than it is a Negro problem. A Southerner, Thomas P. Bailey, wrote, "The real problem is not the Negro but the white man's attitude toward the Negro."

Perhaps it is time, after 100 years, to put the blame where it belongs. Perhaps every white that looks into a mirror should see reflected "a sociological problem."

How quickly a change of climate could be effected if every white could bring himself to face this moment of truth.

M.V. Library At Annex

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In his letter to your newspaper, Joseph Brewster, a parks and recreation commissioner, has thrown the first sad stone at the new Mill Valley Library building planned for Old Mill Park Annex.

Many people are sorry he didn't make it clear that his views are strictly his own and do not represent the commission. Most commissioners prefer to cooperate with the Library Board and city council and will welcome the new library to the annex, idle these 34 years.

It is also good to learn from Mrs. Walter Rowell and others that the people who gave the Annex to the city would like to have the library located there.

The commissioner says he is concerned about the future; but can't he be encouraged to think about the future in broader terms?

Who can name a single resource more important to good citizenship, of present and future Mill Valley generations, than a good library? If its chances are hurt now, we'll have to wait years for the library. Is such a tragic wait fair to children now growing up? Is it fair to older people now in their precious days?

Is it fair to be compelled to wait? What can be gained by waiting? We have everything to lose and nothing to gain by waiting for a good library.

People are saying they would like to see the commissioner change his mind and go all out for the new library, If the library wins at the polls, as most people believe it will, the commissioner would feel like a trespasser when he enters the fine building standing in the redwoods. If the library loses at the polls, the commissioner will always sadly wonder if he caused its defeat and question whether he had the moral right to shoot down an essential public improvement which will not increase our tax rate and which will mean more to present and future generations than the benefits coming solely from having that tiny fraction of Mill Valley public lands to look at.

Now is the time to accent the positive. This is the chance to show what can be accomplished in Mill Valley if we all pull together.

Putting the library in Old Mill Park Annex will increase the use and enjoyment of Old Mill Park, not reduce it. Why does the commissioner insist on thinking in think-tight, sectusive compartments? Parks and recreation and library facilities have a common objective: a sound mind in a sound body. Why must there be a tedious separation of facilities owned by the people?

A lot of us are hoping the commissioner will change his mind and decide to work for the library instead of against it. Somebody was saying the other night that the commissioner's own kids would thank him if he did.

For a better community future, why don't Mill Valley officials (for once) stand unanimous in fabor of the library? In years to come, we'll all be glad they did!

Teen-Agers Earn In Summer

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We would like to say thank you to the Department of Employment for helping teenagers find jobs during summer vacation, and also to those who hired them.

Our son was one who was called upon, and though he didn't work steady, he was able to earn spending money, gain experience, and learn responsibility.

We sincerely hope the program keeps up and that more people will find a way to help out these youngsters.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

When the great Irish poet and dramatist, William Butler Yeats, won the Nobel Prize in 1923, a group of his admirers in Dublin insisted upon giving a banquet in his honor. Yeats, a very shy, introspective man, writhed with embarrassment as speaker after speaker sang his praises. He sank lower and lower in his chair on the dais, but suddenly revived when the chairman presented him with a check for 2500 pounds— over ten thousand dollars in those days—the gift of several wealthy men present. Yeats rose to his feet, stared at the check for a moment, then startled his audience by remarking, "2500 pounds, eh? I must say that's damn little for all the lies I've had to listen to this evening!"

Charlie Rice, no great admirer of committees, recalls the definition somebody once coined for a camel: "a horse designed by a committee"; also William Sumner's warning, "if you live in a town that is run by a committee, you had better be on it yourself." Rice sums up:

"Committees of twenty deliberate plenty,
Committees of ten act now and then,
But most jobs are done by committees of one."

Goldwater Prepared To Vote Either Way On Treaty

WASHINGTON—Sen. Barry Goldwater, who has given no evidence in the past of trimming his views to serve expediency, faces a decision on the test-ban treaty which to most Presidential aspirants would be a painful dilemma.

Opposing the treaty would hurt him in one direction.

Supporting it would hurt him in another.

It is hard to see how he could benefit politically either way.

HERE IS the dilemma:

If Mr. Goldwater votes against the test ban, he will be separating himself on a crucial issue from the overwhelming majority of Republican senators, from the most influential conservative leaders of his own party (like Sens. Everett Dirksen and Burke Hickenlooper) and, as the polls show, from the mainstream of American public opinion.

If Mr. Goldwater votes for the treaty, he will be grievously offending, perhaps alienating, many of his most faithful, hard-working right-wing supporters who, as Birch Society activitists or sympathizers, see the test ban as pro-Soviet, anti-U.S., and want to have no truck with it under any circumstances.

The Senator's own trend of thinking about what would be a workable and worthwhile test ban has shown some fluidity.

IN APRIL of this year he said that "the root problem of the nuclear control situation lies in the preparation of tests. Until such preparations can be policed — and there isn't even the vaguest hope for that—no test ban would be worth the paper it is written on."

The treaty now before the Senate provides no policing of possible test preparations and on July 24 Mr. Goldwater was quoted in a newspaper interview as saying that he "couldn't vote" for it. After the conclusion of the Moscow negotiations, he told reporters that he had an "open mind."

Quite a few in Washington, friends as well as critics of the Senator, incline to feel that he may have fashioned a rather comfortable "pillow" whichever way his vote falls. They are referring to the proposal he made this past week, that the Senate attach a reservation stipulating that it would not come into being until the removal of Soviet troops from Cuba.

Mr. Goldwater did not state explicitly that, if the Senate rejected his reservation, he would vote against the test ban. But he came very near it. He said that without the get-out-of-Cuba reservation, he felt the treaty was a "potential peril."

THE UNITED STATES resolutely rejected—and I think rightly—the effort of Premier Khrushchev to attach a Soviet quid pro quo to the ban. Khrushchev wanted to tie to the treaty a non-aggression pact between NATO and Moscow's Eastern European satellites.

We said in effect—no conditions, no deals. Either this test ban is in itself in the national interests of both the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. or it isn't. It should be approved or rejected on its merits.

Furthermore, if we propose to attach diplomatic deals to the treaty—after having previously rejected the idea that unrelated issues be tied to it —the U.S. would be inviting Russia to open up the whole bag of Soviet demands. The reservation that Moscow withdraw from Cuba would obviously bring a Soviet counter-proposal that the U.S. get out of Turkey or Berlin or South Viet Nam.

This approach to negotiating the test ban is, I believe, neither wise nor prudent nor fruitful.

THE ALLEN-SCOTT REPORT

Censors Block Talk Of Soviet Missile Gains

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Defense Secty. McNamara's censors have succeeded in keeping part of the story of recent Soviet nuclear-missile gains from being publicly discussed in the Senate's historic nuclear test ban treaty debate.

The lid was tightly put on intelligence showing a major Soviet nuclear test breakthrough by the Pentagon's blue penciling of a number of important passages in the highly critical report before it was released by Sen. John Stennis' Senate Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee.

The subcommittee's alarming report, outlining the major disadvantages that the treaty will have on U.S. security, has become the rallying point and the bible for senators opposing President Kennedy's test ban agreement with Russia.

THE DEFENSE Department's censoring, which in effect bars subcommittee members from publicly discussing the deleted information, occurred when Senator Stennis submitted the 25-page report to Secretary McNamar's office for security clearance before making it public.

After checking with the White House, McNamara's aides ordered deleted from the committee's report all information revealing that the Soviets' "big yield" nuclear tests probed "the ability of radars to acquire and track a missile warhead through the radar and communications blackout created by nuclear explosions."

When several committee members vigorously objected to this unexpected censoring, the Pentagon whiz kids made their blue penciling stick by raising the security issue.

They argued that the senators' blunt report, unless changed, would give the Russians details on the capability of U.S. intelligence detection system that they do not now have.

ACCURATE REPORTING — While reluctantly admitting that the committee's information about the Soviet gains was accurate and fairly reported, they stressed that its publication would be the first admission by government sources that the U.S. had information on the "live" radar-missile tracking test the Russians made during their super-bomb experiments.

When the censors were shown secret testimony of Gen. Thomas S. Power, commander-in-chief of the Strategic Air Command, that the U.S. had never conducted similar experiments, McNamara's aides confirmed that this was true, but were unmoved.

They also admitted that General Power was correct in stating the treaty would bar the U.S. from holding similar tests. However, they disagreed with the Air Force general's contention that the tests were needed to develop an effective U.S. missile defense system and that the public was entitled to this information.

McNAMARA'S CENSORS also struck from the report data on the anti-ballistic missile system that the Russians are now deploying around Leningrad, including an intelligence estimate indicating:

That the initial operational capability of the Leningrad system could be achieved in 1963, with 32 anti-missile missiles already on launchers.

That this anti-missile missile system is believed to have attained effectiveness against ballistic missiles fired from 300 to 1,500 miles.

During 1963-1964 the Soviet plan to deploy a transportable anti-ballistic missile system to their army fronts. This system will be effective against all U.S. intermediate range ballistic missiles and those of shorter range.

The Soviet system possibly could, under certain conditions, now defend limited areas of the USSR against U.S. Titan and Atlas ICBMs.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By RANDALL GOULD

Something Or Other Is Giving Our Supervisors A Hotfoot

TWO MATTERS of considerable interest are scheduled for discussion next Tuesday before the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

First is the question of county employment practices with special reference to Negroes. A report will be made by the Personnel Department on instigation last week of new Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker.

Leydecker rather casually tied in with this the matter of board agenda. He and others increasingly feel that a little pre-digestion of board topics will make the mass go down faster and easier.

On the personnel issue one need not look for any of the fireworks recently exploding over race issues. There is no overt race prejudice to consider, but only the more constructive thought that perhaps the county government can fairly, decently and with no disruption improve Negro employment.

WITHOUT ANTICIPATING the personnel report, we know that Marin County lives up to state fair employment practices by submitting to department heads the names of qualified job candidates without regard to race. In fact no record is kept as to race, therefore it is impossible to give solid figures on how many Negroes have applied in the past.

It is an obvious fact the county employs few Negroes in white-collar capacities, however. This is true in private enterprise in Marin.

It is also clear that junior and trainee jobs aren't always filled to capacity, for the simple reason that Marin attracts applicants of experience and employers both governmental aand private naturally like to hire experienced folk.

Can it be that by a slight change in county policy, Negroes who are qualified in everything but experience may get county employment giving them experience through which they will then qualify for better jobs governmental and private?

"WE'D LIKE to employ some Negroes in banking," Leydecker told the board last week in a paragraph which missed inclusion in news stories because of copy-cutting on a day of much news in many places.

"Few Negroes have had banking experience, however. Perhaps the county can give leadership and serve a useful function by giving office experience to more Negroes, thus helping to enlarge their Marin employment possibilities all around."

To many this is a stimulating thought. In the past, our supervisors have held back from involvement in such matters as housing. (Supervisor Peter Behr appealed for leadership there but got nowhere. Leydecker was yet to arrive.)

SO WE HAVE some breakthrough impending, it would seem. The agenda issue is really no issue at all, but a thing in which inertia has prevailed.

Veteran Chairman Bill Fusselman remembers working hard on the agenda, in years past. All that's needed now is some pre-screening, advance references to elicit information and recommendations into which the board can set teeth.

Of course there remains the question as to whether the board, having heard these two issues, will take action. That is always the big question.

The board is willing to discuss overdue redistricting, but will it do anything before next election? What will happen when after three months of study the board receives an analysis of the obvious waste of Marin's multiple governmental units, such as special districts? Will it again be "wait and think"?

ACTION today seems more in the wind than for a long time. There are various reasons, including new blood on the board.

The fact that four of the five supervisorial seats will come up for vote of the people next June may be playing a part in creating some ferment. More powerful than ferment could be the hot-foot of a few impatient constituents.

Certainly the general situation has moved toward a climate of sensitivity to ideas, as well as to the effect on constituents of the positions taken on specific issues by individual board members.

ROVING AMBASSADORS

Count Legs, Divide By 2 And Seems We Have 8

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—With the test ban treaty, civil rights and all like that going on, you don't hear much about this, but there is a feeling among certain senators that the United States is becoming overstocked with roving ambassadors.

Some concern over the increase in the roving ambassador population was expressed at a recent hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. This came as a surprise to me.

I can remember a time not many years back when the roving ambassador was, like the whooping crane, in danger of becoming extinct.

BUT NOW, thanks to the mobility of modern diplomacy, roving ambassadors are plentiful again. Some say too plentiful.

Thus far, nobody has tried to organize a campaign to stamp out roving ambassadors. Nor has there been any talk of an open season to keep their numbers in check.

Nevertheless, the situation has reached the point where Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.), felt constrained to ask the State Department to take a census of our migratory diplomats.

By counting their legs and dividing by two, the department was able to ascertain that we now have eight roving ambassadors on the continent of Europe.

Carlson reported this finding at a hearing on the nomination of William Matson Roth to be deputy special representative for trade negotiations.

"I want to say I am very happy that we do finally send somebody over there who is listed as a special representative, rather than as an ambassador," Carlson commented.

HE ADDED that in his opinion the skill of our negotiators is not necessarily enhanced by striped trousers.

But Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), pointed that there is a marked difference between a special representative and a roving ambassador.

The former wears a black tie and the latter a white tie, Aiken explained.

This brought from Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio), an account of the time that he, as a newcomer to Washington, attended his first White House reception in formal dress.

As he was standing on the portico, Aiken came out, handed him a ticket and said "Car 67, please."

I gathered from this that the senators fear our roving ambassadors might be mistaken for parking attendants. Or, worse yet, for senators.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

By HARRY CRAFT

'Slip,' New English Lubricant Ready To Be Marketed

FULL SCALE distribution in Marin County of a new automotive lubricant developed in England will begin shortly. It is called "slip" and is a product of the Hollingshead Corp. It will be marketed at local service stations, car dealers garages and auto chain outlets. Some of these already have the product on sale.

Slip contains molybdenum disulfide, a mineral found in Colorado, and is used to lubricate hot piston and cylinder areas, and in gears under tons of pressure. It is claimed to reduce friction 22 per cent, give faster starting in cold weather, more horsepower and save gasoline. Only one eight-ounce unit is said to be necessary for the average car owner and will last through oil changes for six months.

CONGRATULATIONS to British accented Miss Wynne Bowyer, celebrating her second anniversary at Nancy's Carriage House, San Rafael. She is now the sole owner of the store, having taken over the interest of Mrs. Britt Massingale several months ago.

Says Miss Bowyer: "I've been in business in many parts of the country and in England, and I believe there are more selective women's apparel stores on Fourth Street, San Rafael than I've seen on one street in any other city."

Open Areas Held Saving To Tax Payer

Preservation of open areas represents a saving to the taxpayer, Kelvin J. Nelson, Marin County parks and recreation director, told the Marin Federation of Improvement Clubs at the county courthouse Monday night.

Open areas mean less taxes than if the land were developed as a residential subdivision, Nelson said, because taxes from tracts do not cover the cost of county services.

Nelson also discussed the county's present recreation facilities and produced a map with the location of all such facilities.

I. W. Doerksen of the Loma Verde Improvement Club, chairman of the federation, presided.

The federation voted in favor of recommending Mrs. Margaret Azevedo of Tiburon to the proposed San Francisco Bay Area Transit Study Commission. The Marin Council of Civic Affairs has already recommended that Gov. Edmund G. Brown name Mrs. Azevedo as Marin representative on the commission.

Next meeting of the federation will be Oct. 7.

County Planners Grant Permit To Guide Dogs

A use permit which would allow operation of a Guide Dogs for the Blind School in Novato was approved Monday by county planners.

But officers of the school, now located on Los Ranchitos Drive in Terra Linda, have not publicly committed themselves to a move to the Novato site, at the southeast corner of Bugeia and H lanes.

The use permit won quick approval of planning commissioners when they found no opposition to the proposal, in an area which already has kennels.

There was no comment from representatives of the Novato Unified School District who were notified of the plan to put the school on the site which was expected to be used for a junior high school, under long range planning for the area. No one from the school district appeared at the planning commission meeting.

The 15-acre site is owned by Petronilla and Edward Mazzolini, Novato.

Negro Education Aide Quits Post

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Negro attorney Nathaniel S. Colley has submitted his resignation from the State Board of Education and Gov. Edmund G. Brown indicated yesterday he would accept it as soon as he can find a replacement.

Colley, the first of his race ever appointed to the board, denied only last Friday that he had offered the resignation. But his letter was dater Sept. 10, last Tuesday.

Colley gave the press of personal business as a reason for his resignation.

California Specialty Crops Called Good For Exporting

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—An export authority said yesterday that the European Common Market does not place California's specialty crops in "such a bad spot."

Jack Gomperts, president of Nordisk and Elsforbund California Inc., an exporting firm, spoke at a joint meeting of the governor's import and advisory committees and members of the State Board of Agriculture.

Speaking of the Common Market, he said California has products that are wanted in foreign nations and plenty of consumers to buy them.

"What we need is for our agriculture industries to roll up their sleeves and go to work," Gomperts said. "We are spoiled by our huge domestic market and we sometimes think of export only as a surplus disposal problem."

Ben Bella Takes Over Newspapers

ALGIERS (UPI) — President Ahmed Ben Bella has taken his first step in his promised policy of nationalization by ordering the takeover of the three remaining privately owned newspapers in Algeria.

The papers were all owned by Frenchmen.

Ben Bella also told a meeting of the National Liberation Front yesterday that "privilege will be destroyed in Algeria" by 1964. He said millions of dollars in foreign bank accounts will be taken by the government and distributed to the poor.

BROWN CANCELS OUT DEDICATION

Assembly's Senior Demo Says People Of San Perdo Slighted By Governor

SAN PEDRO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown has canceled out of attending a big bridge dedication and fishermen's fiesta here, the Assembly's senior Democrat said yesterday, adding that he's mad.

Brown, instead, plans to attend a dam dedication at which President John F. Kennedy will be honored guest.

"The only time I get mad is when someone slights the people of the 68th district and I think Pat Brown has done just that," declared Assemblyman Vincent Thomas, who has represented the district in the Assembly for 23 years.

He told a newsman that six months ago Brown accepted an invitation to be the guest of honor at the dedication of the Vincent Thomas Bridge, a 21.4-million-dollar structure linking San Pedro with Terminal Island and its naval base, fish canneries and industries. It was named in Thomas' honor for his longtime efforts to bring it about.

The dedication is scheduled Sept. 28 during the annual three-day Fishermen's Fiesta, when gaily decorated boats parade in competition for prizes and thousands gather to watch.

Monday, Thomas said, the Democratic governor's travel secretary telephoned him that Brown won't be here because he now plans to attend a dam dedication the same day in Northern California.

The secretary said Brown has decided to "cancel out on all Sept. 28 events here including the parade, the dedication, the boat luncheon and the dinner," said Thomas.

"This cancellation was done," the assemblyman declared, "so Pat could attend the northern dedication at Whiskeytown on the same day. I'm afraid he has forgotten what he owes this district and the number of votes in Southern California."

Estate Fight Pride Held Moot Issue

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A "matter of pride" was held to be a moot issue Monday in the case of Mrs. Gladys Torregano Stevens.

Mrs. Stevens, a Los Angeles domestic, had battled for six years to receive a daughter's share of the estate of attorney Ernest J. Torregano, whom Mrs. Stevens claimed as her father.

She finally won a 40 per cent — or about $160,000 — share of the estate, but at a hearing last month she refused to accept the money until Superior Court considered her petition to be legally declared Torregano's daughter. Her attorney, Bergen Van Brunt, said it was a "matter of pride."

But Superior Judge Byron Arnold said the issue of relationship was moot since it was not a direct part of the settlement. Torregano's half-brother, Alfred, the will's main beneficiary, had assigned 40 per cent of the estate to Mrs. Stevens.

Mrs. Stevens, a widow and grandmother, claimed that Torregano deserted her and her mother in New Orleans in 1913, and later came to San Francisco and crossed the "color line." Mrs. Stevens is Negro.

Firms Donate Study Funds

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker disclosed yesterday that $18,000 of the expected $30,000 cost of a Stanford Research Institute study of industrial potential of Marin County has been pledged of paid in by private firms, leaving the county cost only $12,000.

H introduced and the board unanimously passed resoluions of appreciation directed to six contributing firms as follows: The Draper Companies, giving $15,000; D. Christensen Construction Co., $1,000; Harry Heifetz Co., $1,000; Blumfeld Enterprises, $500; Bel - Marin Keys, $250; Sunset International Petroleum $250.

Marin artist Gwen Stone received a first award in the mixed media division at the sixth annual Delta Art Assn. open show in Antioch last weekend. The exhibition of both modern and traditional art attracted more than 500 entries from artists in Northern and Central California.

3 Car Looters Get Jail Terms

Three car looters from the East Bay, who were nabbed after a high-speed chase down Mount Tamalpais last April, must serve one year in Marin County jail for burglary.

Judge N. Charles Brusatori of Marin Superior Court Monday sentenced Clarence Edward Greenlee, 23, Richmond service station operator; John Howard Nolan, 38, Pinole musician-bartender, and Harold Glen Martin, 34, San Pablo laborer.

On April 27, Deputy Sheriff Martin Conlin and a reserve deputy spotted the three men looting cars at the Mount Tamalpais Summit parking lot. The officers chased the trio down the winding road where the looters crashed their car against an embankment.

Best To Keep Your Stopper In Dangerous Bridge Suit

Don't feel sorry for the opponents when they fail to open their best suit.

If you are a tender-hearted creature and feel that you must shed a tear or two for the opponents, at least don't do for them what they failed to do for themselves.

Opening lead — ◇ Q

West opened the queen of diamonds, rather naturally. Ten experts out of ten would select this opening lead since there is no way to know that the heart lead works better.

SOUTH WINS

South won with the king of diamonds and led out the ace and king of spades. West West discarded a heart on the second spade, South carefully played dummy's ten of spades.

Now South needed an entry to dummy to take a trump finesse through East.

Perhaps hoping to take some king of club finesse later, South got to dummy by way of the ace of hearts. This opened the door that the opponents had failed to open in their opening lead.

South returned a trump and took a finesse to pick up West's trump. West discarded a heart and a diamond on the third and fourth trumps.

LED CLUB

Declarer next led a club and lost dummy's jack to the queen. Back came a heart, and South ruffed with his last trump. When West got in with the king of clubs he led another heart, and East took two tricks to defeat the contract.

South could have made the contract by discarding his losing diamond when East first led a heart, but he should never have been in this difficult position. The correct play is to reach dummy with the ace of clubs to take the trump finesse.

After drawing four rounds of trumps, South can give up a club with both red aces still barring the door to the dangerous suits.

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 18, the 261st day of 1963 with 104 to follow.

The moon is approaching first quarter. The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Jupiter, Saturn, and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1927, the Columbia Broadcasting System went on the air with a basic network of 16 stations.

In 1851, the New York Times published its first issue.

In 1961, U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold was killed in a plane crash in Northern Rhodesia.

A thought for the day — Winston Churchill said: "It is better to be making the news than taking it; to be an actor rather than a critic."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Robinson-Jiricka Marriage Is Announced

The marriage of Regina Jiricka of Frankfort, Germany, to Robin Kent Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Robinson of Kent Woodlands, is being revealed by his parents. The young couple was married in Reno earlier this month.

The bridegroom met Regina about three years ago when he was stationed in Frankfort with the Army Engineers. At the time she was a secretary with a large Frankfort firm. She came to the United States last spring and worked in San Francisco before the marriage.

Mrs. Clarence Robinson of San Francisco and the late Mr. Robinson are the paternal grandparents of the bridegroom and Mrs. David Honeyman and the late Mr. Honeyman of Portland are his maternal grandparents.

Mrs. Gerald Kosel of Sacramento is his sister.

The newlyweds are living in Pleasanton, where he is with the Kaiser Industries.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Israel's Counsul And Wife Will Attend Kent Woodlands Party

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

A wine tasting buffet is to be held at the Kent Woodlands home of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Rudy, on Sept. 25 at 6:30 p.m. This will be an opportunity to introduce to Marin friends of Israel that nation's new consul for this area and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Saguy.

A tasting of Israel wines is arranged, and the evening will serve to advertise the Israel-International Fashion Festival to take place Oct. 14 in San Francisco, sponsored by the Women's Division of the State of Israel Bond Organization. The annual fashion spectacular will feature designs, fabrics and furs from 19 nations in addition to Israel, and includes the collections of 18 of the world's foremost designers, as well as 10 of Israel's leading couturiers.

Serving as Marin Israel-International Fashion Festival co-chairmen are Mrs. Paul Guttman of Sausalito and Mrs. Morris Thau of Kentfield.

Members of several organizations will serve as hostesses for each of the nations represented in the Fashion Show, and as Marin's Committee has selected Israel, the appearance of the Consul and Mrs. Saguy has added attraction for the local sponsoring group.

Mrs. Rudy is a member of the board of governors of the Women's Division, under whose auspices the Oct. 14 gala will take place. Admission to the Fashion luncheon is by the purchase of an Israel Bond. The Rudys' buffet is by invitation only.

THREE YOUNG Marin women are among the new students enrolled at Mills College in Oakland. They are Elizabeth Shelbourne Beale, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George W. Beale of San Rafael (She is a graduate of Terra Linda High School); Susan Margaret Cope, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Caleb Cope of Mill Valley (She is a graduate of Dominican Upper (high) School), and Janis Lynn Goldbaum, daughter of Mrs. Sam Goldbaum of San Anselmo. Janis is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School.

The girls will begin their studies Sept. 24. A series of traditional social events, including many parties and a picnic at Pine Top on the wooded grounds of the college are on the opening week agenda for the new Mills students.

With other members of the incoming Mills class of 1967, the girls will be feted at the deans' dinner Friday, and honored at an informal garden reception hosted by the college president, C. Easton Rothwell and his wife at the president's house on the campus Sunday afternoon.

They will also take part in the formal installation ceremonies for new students at Lisser Hall on Monday.

Dressed in a short white dress, the bride had as her only attendant Jane McCarthy who wore emerald green. Her brother-in-law, Glenn Overstreet was the bridegroom's best man.

The new Mrs. Kirschling attended Wilson College in Pennsylvania and Katherine Gibbs Secretarial School in Boston. Her husband, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen V. Kirschling of Marshfield, Wis., graduated from the University of Wisconsin.

ENJOYING THE SEASON'S STYLE

"Let's Gamble on Style" was the title given yesterday's showing of styles at the San Rafael Improvement Club's opening program as Mrs. Earl Popovich of the Mannequin League models a long hostess gown. Eight club members also modeled for the event, for which Mrs. Marvin Hoy was program chairman. President Mrs. Robert Swart and the executive board greeted members.

The 'Alumni College' Is Newest Wrinkle In Summer Education

By HASKELL SHORT

ATHENS, Ohio (UPI)— Something new in education — an "Alumni College" — may become part of the summer program at universities across the country.

That's the belief of officials at Ohio University where an unusual experiment for alumni wanting to broaden their cultural knowledge proved an overwhelming success.

Graduates might want to brush up on some of the cultural courses they took or missed while in college, reasoned university President Vernon R. Alden. There are special refresher courses at universities for professional and technical people, Alden pointed out, but he felt there should be an opportunity for former students to spend a few days "with contemporary thought in the cultural field."

ALL CLASSES at the recently completed weeklong program were "centered on the idea of renewing appreciation for many cultural interests that can apply directly to happy family living," Alden said.

The success of the program, alumni Secretary Jack Gilbert said, was shown by the fact that more than half of the 30 persons in the course said they would return next year.

The classes began at 9 a.m. with students meeting in an air-conditioned room at the student center to hear a 90-minute lecture by Dr. Frederick L. Leach on contemporary art and how the average person could understand its meaning.

Following a coffee break, the students attended another 90-minute lecture, this one a discussion of contemporary literature by Prof. Hollis S. Summers.

Afternoons were free for rest and recreation, which gave the students time to get acquainted again with their alma mater.

BUT IN THE evening, it was classwork again with lectures on such subjects as interior decorating, personal finance and communications media.

All the students seemed to find new interests and appreciation in matters they didn't have time for or for some reason didn't find interesting when they were undergraduates.

Loyal Bemiller, a Mansfield, Ohio, attorney, said he felt the class enthusiasm stemmed from a hidden desire to continue interests ordinarily dropped at graduation.

"We think we will keep up on good literature and continue an interest in art," he said, "but we never really take time to do it after we get involved with families and the business world. This has resparked an interest, and believe me, it makes you realize how important it is to continue paying attention to these things."

Gives Profile Special Formula Bread Extra Complete Protein

Better For All The Family Because Better In Complete Protein Than Regular White Or Whole Wheat

In the brain's hypothalamic region, appetite control centers act, in normal people, to increase your appetite . . . or . . . to curb appetite.

Eating some carbohydrate and protein-containing food 30 to 60 minutes before a regular meal is an effective way to curb appetite.

Naturally, the less you crave food, the less you eat.

Profile Special Formula Bread Does Job For Less

Two slices of Profile Bread 30 to 60 minutes before lunch and dinner should easily appease these 3 appetite control centers.

Two slices of Profile Special Formula Bread cost about half as much as many wafers, tablets and candies used for appetite appeasement. Thus, following the Profile Plan can save you money.

Buy Profile For All The Family

Buy Profile Special Formula Bread today. It costs a few pennies more. But it is worth more.

Because a pound loaf of Profile Special Formula Bread gives you about 7% more complete protein than whole wheat bread; about 30% more than regular white.

Which is important not only in weight control but for health and vitality.

Keep Your Waistline In

Profile Bread can help you work for better control of weight through appetite control—all of the time.

And you'll love its good flavor—its good chewing texture. Above all—if you like toast—then you will rave about Profile!

See for yourself what the Profile Bread Plan can do to help you control your appetite to control weight.

See how good Profile tastes!

Get it fresh today. You will be very glad you did.

Mrs. Arnie Palmer Refuses To Be Golf Widow

NEW YORK (AP)—"Its a lonely life for the men," says brunette Mrs. Arnold Palmer, wife of golf's top professional.

That's why, she explains she is regularly in the front ranks of Arnie's Army, cheering him along in national tournaments.

It has been estimated that Winnie Palmer spends one-third of the year strolling golf courses. And she's there "because Arnie wants me with him."

"While you feel torn between being with your husband or staying with the children, you have to realize your husband needs you as much as the children do. Successful golfing depends so much on the golfer's mental atitude," says Mrs. Palmer.

SOMETIMES, SHE thinks, golfers' wives don't care for the constant traveling involved use the children as an excuse to stay home.

The Palmers have taken their two daughters, Margaret, 7, and Amy, 5, along with them as much as possible. They own their own plane and Arnold does the piloting.

MRS. PALMER SAYS she's fortunate because when girls couldn't go along they've been in the good care of their grandparents.

However, now that the girls are both in school she expects to spend more than the previous three months out of the year at their Latrobe, Pa. home.

Life on the golf circuit for the Palmers means week after week of playing in tournaments from Thursday through Sunday, then picking up and moving to the next contest, living in hotels and motels, eating every meal out and trying to keep up with the laundry. "We're lucky if Arnie gets home four weeks in a year," Mrs. Palmer says.

THERE ISN'T MUCH time for any social life. The men are busy playing or practicing. The wives often take turns babysitting with all the children, so the others can watch their husbands play or go shopping during the day."

After the World Series of Golf in Akron, Ohio, they are going to Paris for the Canada Cup Match in October and to Australia in early November. A trip to Japan is scheduled for next fall.

But she's not putting down the gypsy aspect of their life. "I knew when I married him it would be a different type of life," says Mrs. Palmer. "It's really very pleasant, and everyone is friendly and sporting. Then there's the advantage that when the children travel with us, they can see the best zoos, museums or places of interest each city offers."

THE PALMERS MET at an amateur golf tournament at Shawnee of Delaware, Pa., where Arnold was playing and Winnie was serving as a hostess. They've been mbarried for nine years.

Arnold, who is 34, turned pro after winning the U.S. Amateur Championship in 1954. This year he has already earned $100,000, setting a new nings for one year.

Mrs. Palmer a native of Allentown, Pa., attended Brown University in Providence, R.I., where she studied business administration. "It has come in very handy," she says, because she acts as social secretary while they're on tour and has managed the business end so Arnold can concentrate solely on his golf game.

AND BUDGETING can be a real problem even in this income bracket. Mrs. Palmer says the biggest headache comes when you don't know from year to year what the income will be.

"It takes a few years of experience to handle it," she says. "One of my early troubles was in estimating taxes for the next year."

While the Palmers' income sounds large, by the time they pay the government, their traveling expenses and hotel bills, maintain their home and keep up his golfing equipment, the profits aren't so great.

"IT TAKES THREE or four years of winning before you have any excess money to invest or save for the children's education," declares Mrs. Palmer.

What are Mrs. Palmer's plans when she starts spending more time at home?

"I'm going to start playing golf," she says, with a smile.

Arnold's father, Deac, professional at Latrobe Country Club who taught him, will do the coaching.

MRS. ARNOLD PALMER goes along on the golf circuit with her husband, who flies their private plane. Often they take their children, who otherwise stay with their grandparents. (UPI photo)

FRANK GIUBBINI
Long-time county employee

He's Ending Career As 'Working Stiff'

Frank Giubbini of Inverness plans to retire from working for the county public works department like be began— as a working stiff."

He doesn't want it to be known that he is now foreman of the West Marin district road crew.

"I went to work as a working man and I am leaving as a working man," is the way Giubbini puts it.

Giubbini, 70, traded the occupation of dairying for a road grader pulled by horses in 1921. He was the first road department employee to use a mechanized road grader in the early 1930s.

He still operates a road grader and hopes that he can push it fast enough to finish blacktopping the Point Reyes-Petaluma Road by Oct. 1, when he retires.

Giubbini, who recalls that when he went to work for the county most of the roads were unpaved, has repaired roads in every district in Marin. He cites Bolinas residents "as always having been 100 per cent cooperative" with his road crews.

The work of widening a trail to the lighthouse at the tip of Point Reyes peninsula into a road was equally as important to Giubbini as constructing the wide portions of roadway through the San Geronimo Valley and around Nicassio Dam.

A life to him is very important, whether it is of an animal or a tree. On his job, Giubbini says, "We only take trees that are a hazard to the roads, or dead ones that are very dangerous."

Giubbini, who was born on the Glenn Ranch in Bear Valley, credits the preservation of "the many beautiful trees" in the county to the establishment of parks. He says that there are 40 per cent more trees in Bear Valley now "than when I was a kid."

"Bear Valley is one of the most beautiful spots on the coast and now it will be protected" in the Point Reyes National Seashore, Giubbini added.

Retirement will not end Giubbini's long association with road work.

He plans "to keep active" by helping ranches in West Marin keep their roads in good condition. There will also be time for hunting and fishing.

Rafferty Complains Of Texts

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Dr. Maxwell Rafferty voiced his complaints about school textbooks at an open meeting with publisher representatives yesterday. He was told he could expect improvements soon.

Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, said he wanted books with more "sparkle and zing." He complained of errors of fact, small vocabularies, lack of emphasis on phonics, inadequate treatment of racial minorities and the labor movement.

As an example he quoted from a fifth grade book's description of a Southern plantation, which he said "presents an idyllic picture of slavery that would have rendered Abraham Lincoln unnecessary."

NAZI ATROCITIES

He said a history book "glossed over" Nazi atrocities against the Jews, that reading books left out reference to all but a very few of American "classics" of literature.

"We are going to be raising a generation of quasi-illiterates," he said.

However, Rafferty praised the publishing industry as "a classic example of free enterprise."

Austin McCaffrey of the American Textbook Publishers Institute said that it takes three to seven years to develop a book or series of books.

TO SERVE NATION

He said the publishers do not want to develop different books for the South, North and West, but want to "raise the common denominator."

"The ideal is for books to serve the nation, rather than sections."

John Delury, representing the Bay Area Human Relations Clearing House, said his group had made a survey of California texts and found "sins of omission" in treatment of minorities.

He urged "roughly proportionate references in pictures and texts for minority groups.

Rafferty asked why some pages of some books are not numbered.

Coburn Wheeler of Charles E. Merrill Books Inc. said that results from "bleeding" illustrations (running them into the margins). He said his firm tries to put a number on the page before and the page after such an illustration, although it could cut a hole in the illustration and insert the number.

"Maybe with the arithmetic we're teaching nowadays the students can't count one forward or one back," he commented.

"Touche," said Rafferty.

Fairfax Man's Leg Crushed In Accident

Frank L. Lawrence, 26, of 206 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, suffered a crushed right leg Monday when a truck rolled over it.

Lawrence is a driver for Piombo Brothers construction company of San Rafael. He stopped his truck at Hutchinson Company rock quarry in Greenbrae and got out to inspect the under side of the truck. The truck rolled and injured him. He was taken to Marin General Hospital.

11 Great Books Discussion Groups Slated

Great books have a great appeal in Marin County.

With 11 discussion groups slated to be held this fall, records of the Great Books Foundation reveal that this number is the highest concentration per capita in the United States.

The first meetings, which will meet every two weeks at 8 p. m., are: AToday, Mill Valley School District office, 26 Miller Avenue, and 2190 Danberry Lane, Marinwood; Thursday, San Rafael High School cafeteria, Union Street and Mission Avenue, and Greenbrae School, 74 Eliseo Drive; Monday Marin County Library, Civic Center, and Jewish Community Center, 1618 Mission Avenue; Oct. 1, Sausalito Public Library, 733 Bridgeway, and Sir Francis Drake Hagh School; Oct. 2, 15 Windward Road, Belvedere; Oct. 3, Terra Linda Community Center, 650 Del Ganado Road, and College of Marin, Kentfield.

Vermont has some geographic areas lacking associated governmental structure. These are known as "gores" or unorganized towns.

Art To Expand At Ross School

Ross School District board members Monday night approved plans for an expanded art program under direction of two members of the Marin Society of Artists.

The year's program will include about 120 students in seventh and eighth grades and will cost $750 in salaries for the two instructors, Supt. William W. Monahan explained.

Mrs. Raymond C. Rice of Greenbrae, a sculptor, and Mrs. Lino D. Pera of Sausalito, a painter, will be in charge of the course, which will give one hour of a week of "creative" work to pupils of the school.

About every fourth week pupils will go to the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross for an art appreciation period.

Asbestos fiber is four times stronger than nylon.

Senior Citizen Assn. Picnic Slated Sept. 26

Since there will be no bus, members will travel by cars, Mrs. Emily G. Hughes of Larkspur, publicity chairman, reported. They are expected to arrive at the park in the late forenoon and stay through the afternoon, she said.

Found Innocent In Exposure Case

Fred Kay Hassfeld, 56, a San Rafael pool service operator, was found innocent yesterday of indecent exposure.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court found Hassfeld not guilty, after a court trial.

Deputy Sheriff A. V. Menjou testified he spotted Hassfelt in the nude on a road off North San Pedro Road last July 10. Hassfelt, defended by attorney David Costamagna, denied the charge.

Judge Wilson visited the scene this morning and concluded that Hassfeld would not have been visible to the "casual observer" and therefore is technically not guilty of indecent exposure.

STUDEBAKER WAGONAIRE FOR 1964

The sliding roof design of the Wagonaire station wagon which proved popular in 1963 is carried into 1964 models, but sweeping front fender, hood and grille lines add length and balance to this triple-purpose utility vehicle. Studebakers have lost the stubby compact appearance of last year and new models are almost six inches longer. Cars will be on display at Rossi's Garage, San Rafael, Sept. 26.

Paper Promotion Workshop Slated

Newspaper promotion managers, advertising directors and publishers from seven western states and western Canada will attend a newspaper promotion workshop in Marin County. The affair opens with a dinner Sunday at Tiburon Tommie's restaurant in Tiburon.

Twenty - nine speakers and panelists will present new ideas and techniques in newspaper promotion at the 13th Annual Western Regional Promotion Workshop. They will cover retail, national and classified advertising, circulation, editorial promotion, public relations and research.

Wishard A. Brown, assistant publisher, and Ray Mount Rogers, promotion manager of the Independent - Journal will direct the session.

Roy A. Brown, Independent-Journal publisher and a former president of the National Editorial Assn. and California Newspaper Publishers' Assn., will speak at a luncheon Monday.

Other speakers will include Daniel K. Stern, national president of the National Newspaper Promotion Assn. and director of public relations for the San Jose Mercury and News; Dr. Chilton R. High Holy Days Starting For Jews

By LOUIS CASSELS
U.P. International

At sundown today, the sonorous wailing of a ram's horn in thousands of synagogues around the world will summon Jews to observance of the High Holy Days, most sacred period of the year.

Observed continually since the time of Moses, the High Holy Days are 10 days of self-examination and penitence, which mark the beginning of a new year on the Jewish Calendar.

This will be the year 5724.

The High Holy Days open with Rosh Hashana, a Hebrew phrase meaningg "head of the year." Tradition holds that it is the anniversary of the first day of creation. Orthodox and Conservative Jews commemorate Rosh Hashana for two days; most reform Jews for one.

Unlike the great spring festival of the Passover, which centers around a family ritual celebrated at home, Rosh Hashana is primarily a synagogue service.

Some Jews who don't attend a synagogue at any other time of the year show up for Rosh Hashana (just as some Christians appear at churches only at Christmas and Easter.)

The sounding of the Ram's horn, called the "shofar," is a call to conscience. It bids the worshiper to reflect on his past deeds and think ahead to the coming year. There is an ancient belief among devout Jews that God judges each of his human creatures on Rosh Hashana, and determines their fate for the coming year.

The 10 days of penitence culminate with Yom Kippur, the "Day of Atonement," which begins this year at sundown Friday, Sept. 27.

This is the holiest day of the year for religious Jews. It is observed with prayer, fasting, and synagogue services that continue around the clock, from sundown through the night and day until the following sundown.

Memorial services for the dead are a traditional feature of Yom Kippur services. The Ancient liturgy also includes a changed hymn called the Kol Nidre, which is actually a prayer of repentance.

The interval between Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur is supposed to be spent in prayer, rest, and solemn festivities. It is regarded as a most important time for Jewish families to be together. At meals, it is customary to pass around a bowl of honey into which each member of the family may dip a piece of bread or a slice of apple, to symbolize a wish for a sweet new year.

Ie is perfectly appropriate for Gentiles to wish their Jewish friends a "happy new year" on Rosh Hashana. But it is the grossest breach of manners to wish anyone a "happy" Yom Kippur, since it is a day of affliction and atonement.

A traditional Jewish greeting for Yom Kippur is:

"May you be inscribed for a good year."

This is an allusion to the belief that each man's fate for the coming year is inscribed in the Book of Life during the High Holy Days.

Corpsman Reports On Colombia

A Tamalpais Valley Peace Corps volunteer in Colombia sees "children flocking into our office every day with dirty notebooks and short stubby pencils begging us to teach them how to read, write, add and subtract."

But, says Leah McBride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. McBride of 808 Spring Drive, there is no school for boys in the neighborhood of Cundinamarca outside the City of Cucuta near the Venezuelan border.

Boys and girls go to separate schools in Colombia. In Cundinamarca "one of the most severe problems the people face is the absence of a school for boys," she said in a letter to the Independent-Journal.

"The people are extremely poor and the one hope they have is that their children may lead a better life than the lives which they have been forced to live.

"The one way they might see this happen is through educating their children.

"These people are starved for education and realize the importance of it far more than many people at home."

Miss McBride has been working for six months, along with two other Peace Corps volunteers, trying to find a lot which will meet specifications for an Alliance for Progress School.

Three adjoining lots, if lumped together, were found acceptable. The owners agreed to sell the lots if a school was to be built on them.

Then, Miss McBride said, the local government said that it had no money to spend for a school. They had been promised the money, she said.

"The school is desperately needed and the people have worked many hours and devoted many days away from their jobs in an effort to materialize plans," she said.

Appeals have been sent out to American companies in Colombia and other firms and individuals. Miss McBride said any contributions should be sent to CARE in New York, with the specification that it is for the Cucuta Urban Community Development team in Cucuta, Colombia.

"We are going to get that school in Cundinamarca before we leave, but we can't get it alone," she added.

Marin Cyclist Winners Named

An outsider, Emile Waldteufel of Mill Valley, did the best time, 26 minutes 42 seconds, in the 10-mile time trials staged by the Marin cyclists in Corte Madera Sunday, Kenneth Potter, club organizer, reported.

The winner will receive a special silver medal from the club.

Receiving a trophy from the Corte Madera Bike and Repair Shop for the fastest time by a senior club member will be Robert Marshall of Corte Madera, whose time was 27 minutes, 6 seconds.

Max Grabinsky of Corte Madera will receive a trophy from the Broadmoor Cyclery, Daly City, for the best time by a junior club member, 27:36.

Additional Show Set By Festival Theater

One additional showing of "Plays for Bleecker Street" by Thornton Wilder will be given at the Festival Theater, 2 Kensington Road, San Anselmo, Friday at 8:30 p.m.

The performance was scheduled to end last weekend, according to director Elizabeth Berryhill.

400 To 500 Persons Die Annually From Lightning In United States

VAN DELLEN

It has been said that 400 to 500 persons die annually in the United States from lightning. This figure seems a bit high, even though thunderstorms are common in this country. August and September are the worst months for fatalities, possibly because more people are in the country, out playing golf, or enjoying the shore.

Most of us fear thunderstorms but not enough to stop playing golf or fishing in a boat. Nature's artillery conforms to the laws of electricity and the discharge goes from one cloud to another or from a cloud to the earth. The highest projection is struck which, for the golfer, is likely to be himself. In addition, his steel shafted club becomes a dangerous lightning rod.

FISHING or swimming may be more hazardous because water is a good conductor and lightning can charge a large area. It has been known to go up the fishing line and create a greater disturbance than the largest fish is capable of doing. Bathers should avoid huddling under beach umbrellas.

A dense forest offers protection out of doors. Avoid a lone tree because the bolt may jump from the trunk to you. A grove of trees affords many more conductors to the ground and there is less chance of being hit unless you stand under the tallest tree.

THUNDERBOLTS are conducted along the outside and not the inside of a building. For this reason, a large metal or metal-frame building is safest, followed in turn by a dwelling protected against electrical storms, large unprotected buildings, and small unprotected buildings. Other good places are a cave, a depression in the ground, and the foot of a steep cliff. An automobile is safe; it might be dangerous to drive in a storm because of poor visibility and wet pavements but there is no harm in stopping and remaining in the car. Lightning is the least of all causes of fatalities on the road.

When indoors during these pyrotechnics, try to avoid windows, fireplaces, stoves, and other metal objects such as sink, radiators, washing machines, and dishwashers.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

INFLAMED THYROID

G. L. writes: I have had thyroiditis that comes and goes since last summer. I take pills but would like to know if this disorder is curable?

REPLY

Thyroiditis can be stubborn and resistant to the best treatment. The antibiotics or adrenal steroids, such as cortisone, usually are prescribed. Now and then thyroiditis is associated with rheumatoid arthritis.

CONVULSIVE DISORDERS

E. F. S. writes: Is epilepsy the same as convulsions?

REPLY

No. Epileptics with grand mal seizures have convulsions, in contrast to those with petit mal, who have blackout spells. Convulsions occur also in brain tumors, injuries, infections, and other cerebrovascular diseases and conditions.

FOODS AND FORCEFULNESS

W. C. R. writes: I am under 40 and have not dissipated but lack forcefulness. Are there any foods a man can eat to strengthen his virility?

REPLY

WRY NECK

Mrs. M. writes: How is wry neck in an infant treated?

REPLY

Surgery is required when muscle relaxants and stretching do not correct the tense or shortened neck muscle.

Americans Exaggerate Trends In Industry

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans are confronted again today with evidence that the course of industry and trade isn't perpetually and inevitably upward.

Their tendency usually is to exaggerate the meaning of any such bobble just as it is to build hopes too high on any upward gains.

Industrial production dipped in August from July. Employment didn't advance as much as it usually does after the July slack period.

The big spurt in industrial output in the last seven months after a long spell of inaction had led many to forecast the same big gains over the rest of the year.

It will be easy to read too much into the August dip, just as it was to read too much into the previous seven months' figures.

There are explanations for the dip that erase some of its significance, and for the previous rise which take away some of its glamor.

Those viewing the current economic upturn as aging and therefore ready for a downturn may take the August figures as a text for sermons on caution.

Most industrialists probably have already seasoned their views of continuing prosperity with a good helping of caution. If they haven't the warning of the August figures that the lines of their charts can't always point upward may arouse a little caution, never such a bad thing as some hold.

The Federal Reserve Board reports its seasonally adjusted index of industrial production in August was 125.6 per cent of the 1957-59 average. In July it had been a record 126.5 per cent.

Actually, the production of both nondurable goods and business equipment advanced. The dip came in durable goods, mining and utilities.

In mining and durable goods the decline was caused mainly by a wider than usual shutdown in auto production for model changeovers and by a drop in steel activity which followed the announcement of a new labor contract.

Car production already is on the rise and is expected to go still higher, with the new models now making their bid for public approval.

Steel output also is increasing and new orders are coming in at a rate that guarantees at least moderate gains in the weeks ahead.

September and October are likely to tell a lot more about the health of, and the length of, the current upturn in the business cycle than did August.

President Sent Protest On A-Plant

Members of the Marin Conservation League, meeting at the Marin Art and Garden Center Monday night, voted 19-1 in favor of a letter to President John F. Kennedy protesting the proposed Pacific Gas and Electric Co. atomic plant at Bodega Head.

The letter said the plant would change the balance of nature, bringing uncertain results and would despoil a scenic area that has bare and lonely characteristics which are highly refreshing near a metropolitan area.

Mrs. Harold Summers, vice president of the league, said the group has already taken a stand opposing the plant. Only new angle was the letter to the president. The one dissenting vote came from a member who thought the plant, through warm water discharge, might improve fishing.

Mrs. Summers reported to members that the project to purchase tidelands off Paradise Drive east of Corte Madera has progressed well with 18 acres already purchased for a total $3,650 in donated funds. The league wants to obtain ownership of a total 98 acres to prevent private developers from filling the tidelands in the area. A sum of $13,842 is still needed to complete the project, Mrs. Summers said.

At 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Barron will interview members of the cast of "The Curious Savage," being produced this weekend by the Woodacre Improvement Club.

UNITED CRUSADE DRIVE

An Old Grad Tells Of Life At St. Vincent's School

(This is the fourth in a series of articles about various United Crusade agencies as seen through the eyes of persons who know of their work from personal experience. Today's article on St. Vincent's School for Boys was writen by an alumnus of the school, now a San Rafael business man. He lives in San Rafael with his wife and two children.

By CHARLES SWANFELT

I am a graduate of St. Vincent's School for Boys. It became necessary for my mother to place me there when all other means of keeping me in school had failed.

It was in 1937 that I entered St. Vincent's, at the age of 9. I left the fishing pole behind me. Now I would really have to take school seriously. I would have to fight my own battles, take a licking when I deserved it, and participate in sports without getting mad if I lost.

All these principles you can learn under the proper supervision, as we had from the German Dominican sisters and the Catholic priests and the lay teachers. I had the privilege of serving as altar boy for the Rt. Rev. (Msgr.) F. P. McEelroy when he said Mass. He was a man with a wealth of knowledge and charm.

I worked in the garden during the week after school and on Saturday, sweeping the walks and spading up the ground. This was a swell job because every once in a while the Monsignor would be walking around and he'd see us working and buy soft drinks for all.

The worst assignment one could get was in the cannery, peeling pears and apples, a very hot and sloppy job, or washing dishes in the scullery. We called it pearl diving.

School was another thing. We used to have long debates on many subjects. The best teacher I ever had was Jim Hayes, who now works for RCA Radio out in Inverness. He taught me the fundamentals of arithmetic.

I was at St. Vincent's for seven years. After that I went on to Sacred Heart High School in San Francisco, and then into the Army. After a three-year hitch I went back to high school to get my diploma, attended the University of San Francisco for a while, and then went to work for Standard Stations.

I was with Standard for 10 years before I was given the opportunity to own and operate by own service station. I have had this station at 4th and H. Streets in San Rafael for almost five years, and am a member of the Kiwanis Club, Knights of Columbus, and Serra Club.

Recently I was asked, "Are you grateful to St. Vincent's?" The answer is definitely yes. I am grateful not only for myself but for the thousands of other boys who have found a home there when they needed it.

The boys at St. Vincent's are there because for one reason or another they can't live at home and go to school. They stay anywhere from a few weeks to several years. Some enter on a part-pay or even a full-pay basis. When no payment is possible, United Crusade funds are used to make up the deficit. This is why a donation to the Crusade helps St. Vincent's to help boys who need it.

It was back in 1853 that the old pioneer Timothy Murphy donated the land on which St. Vincent's now stands. I'm glad he did, and I'm sure that all the other 15,000 graduates are glad, too.

Tryouts are scheduled next Tuesday for amateur entertainment acts to perform at the 64th annual Sunny Hills Grape Festival Oct. 5.

Singers, combos, solo instrumentalists, dancers and other acts are expected to enter the preliminary competition next week. The ten outstanding acts selected will compete in finals at the festival. Entertainers must be at least nine years old and have had no professional experience.

Vision Tests For Youngsters

A program of vision screening tests for pre-school age children has been launched this week in the Bay Area, Frederic S. Weisenheimer of Mill Valley, project director for the California Society for the Prevention of Blindness, announced today.

The program, partly financed by the San Francisco Foundation, will be staffed by volunteers from the Bay Area United Crusade who have been trained by the society.

Aim of the program is to identify an eye condition termed amblyopia which occurs in children under six years of age and results in loss of sight.

500 Expected For REA Convention Luncheon

Dr. S. Vasilevskis, astronomer at Lick Observatory on Mount Hamilton near San Jose, will speak on "Stellar Motions" at 8 p.m. Sept. 26 at the Marin Civic Center.

His sponsor is the Marin Astronomical Society.

Vasilevskis is credited with the addition of an electronic guiding system to the large telescope at Lick, increasing the telescope's usefulness so that it may photograph objects 244 times fainter, John L. Weaver Jr., of Mill Valley, society secretary, said.

The talk, illustrated with slides, will be at 8 p.m. in the Supervisors chambers. Admission is free.
